Bricker, DiSalle Wage Spirited Battle For Senate Seat

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—An outspoken foe of the Truman administration and a man who once held a key job in it are waging a spirited battle for the post of United States senator from Ohio in the Nov. 4 election.

Bricker pitches his bid for reelection on an attack against the New and Fair Deal programs He says only the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as President will bring a change. And, he says the general must be given a Republican Congress with which to work.

Bricker, an ardent campaigner, blames the administration for inflation and the Korean war, demands an end to government corruption and a curb on the treaty - making powers of the President and Senate.

The junior Ohio senator, whose May 6 primary vote topped all other candidates, has been one of Ohio's best vote-getters in previous elections.

But DiSalle claims Bricker's popularity has waned and that his Senate record isn't all it should be to win reelection.

DiSalle hammers away at Bricker's vote against Hoover Commission recommendations, the St. Lawrence seaway project and the Point Four program, among others.

DiSalle complains Bricker is spending large sums on his campaign. He took note of reports real estate and railroad lobbies have pledged financial aid to Bricker, and he asked the Senate Elections Expenditures Committee to keep an eye on the Ohio race.

Bricker has ignored a DiSalle proposal to set up a joint citizens committee to check on both their expenditures in a mutual effort to avoid "lavish spending."

DiSalle, in a half-page newspaper advertisement costing $819, called last August for contributions to a proposed personal campaign budget of $165,000. The published budget, a political innovation in Ohio, listed $40,000 for TV and radio time, $50,000 to mail one million pieces of literature, $30,000 to have it printed and $15,000 for newspaper advertising. The rest covered salaries of campaign workers and miscellaneous items.

Bricker hasn't estimated the cost of his campaign but Republican state headquarters indicated the cost would exceed DiSalles proposed budget.

DiSalle is counting heavily on a series of radio-television marathon talk programs to win votes.

Both Bricker and DiSalle are lawyers.

Bricker began his career in Ohio politics in 1923 as city attorney of Grandview Heights, Columbus suburb, but quit after four years to resume law practice.

In 1929, he became a member of the State Utilities Commission and later served two terms as Ohio attorney general. He was elected governor in 1938, 1940 and 1942 by top-heavy majorities. After the 1944 defeat of the Thomas E. Dewey-Bricker national ticket, Bricker practiced law until his election to the Senate in 1946.

DiSalle, at 44, is 15 years younger than his opponent. He came to Ohio from New York at an early age. After practicing law in Toledo, he became counsel for the Home Owners Loan Corp. in 1933. Later he served as a member of the Ohio legislature, and as assistant Toledo law director, five terms as Toledo councilman and vice mayor and mayor of that city.

In 1950, he took the job of price controller, quitting more than a year later to run for senator.

Ohio Coal Miners Taking Cue On Lewis Strike Nod

Office-Seekers Work Hard In Waning Days Of Campaign

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—(AP)—State office-seekers, in a flurry of political activity in the waning days before the Nov. 4 elections, hopscotched across Ohio Wednesday to carry their campaign messages to the voters.

Sen. John W. Bricker, Republican seeking reelection, spoke of corruption in government, as his Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, talked about the U. S. approach to gaining world peace.

And to bolster the state and national party ticket, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, cited his party's exposure of corruption in government. Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich) told the National Apartment Owners Association at Cleveland that controls on prices, consumer credits and rents were part of the plan for the socialization of America.

• • •

MOST OF THE GOP's state candidates joined a party caravan to tour Southern Ohio.

In that group were Bricker; John W. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor; Secretary of State Ted W. Brown; James A. Rhodes, candidate for state auditor; State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy; Attorney General C. William O'Neill; Ohio Supreme Court Judge James Garfield Stewart and Francis B. Douglass, candidate for the state's highest court.

Thursday that caravan was to visit Ironton, Gallipolis, Pomeroy, Jackson, Waverly and Chillicothe. Friday and Saturday will find the group in McArthur, Logan, New Lexington and Zanesville.

Schedules of other candidates and speakers Thursday call for Lausche to speak in Cleveland, DiSalle in St. Marys, Kenton and Defiance and Kefauver in Scio.

In Marion, Gov. Lausche cited his administration's efforts to suppress crop, poultry and livestock diseases; in enforcement against delivery of inferior quality seed, and enlargement of inspection of agricultural products, along with state animal disease control work.

In Cleveland, Taft said polls "show the Democrat governor losing three per cent of the percentage of the vote he had in 1950. This three per cent shift will be enough to defeat him. However, I feel my victory will be by more than a small margin."

• • •

BRICKER, speaking in Circleville, Washington C. H. and Portsmouth, said "There are many honest and patriotic Democrats who are weary of the stink arising from New Deal corruption in Washington. The honest Democrats whose party has been stolen away from them are going to vote Republican."

Kefauver, former head of a Senate crime investigating committee, said in Dayton "All of the exposures of corruption made so far in Washington have been made by Democrats. We want to carry on the work and we'll have the backing of Stevenson in doing it."

'Bread, Butter' Tied To Poll, Truman Says

BOSTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—President Truman told New England voters Thursday that their "bread and butter" and their chance for world peace are tied up in the 1952 election.

And he renewed his onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by saying the GOP presidential nominee has abetted Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's "scurrilous, big-lie attack" on Gen. George C. Marshall.

Truman derided the Republican slogan—"It's time for a change"—and declared, "No party is entitled to power because it lost too many elections in the past."

"The Republicans lost because they've put in 20 years of blind, thoughtless opposition to almost everything the Democratic Party has done to help the ordinary citizen. They lost because they've been dominated by special privilege, by the lobbies — because they've always voted with the special interests and against the people.

"They lost because they've been against world cooperation, against a healthy foreign trade, against aid to other peoples.

"They lost because they've been against minorities of all kinds, against the immigration into this country of Jews and Catholics, against equality of opportunity."

He said the Republican slogan, "I want a change," may be an appealing one, and added:

"I want a change, too. But I want a change that will not destroy all the good we've done."

15 Girls Listed To Compete In Beauty Contest

Fifteen girls, each representing a high school in this area, will compete on the first night of the 1952 Pumpkin Show for the coveted title of "Miss Pumpkin Show."

First, second and third prizes will be awarded in the contest following the "Beauty Parade" at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday.

The list of contestants and their schools as announced by the sorority is as follows:

Taft Delivers Blistering Rap Against Dems

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio stumped Utah Wednesday in an effort to unite his preconvention supporters behind Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee.

He delivered blistering attacks upon administration foreign policy, "corruption in government" and defended the Taft-Hartley labor law as an act to "keep the government from interfering in collective bargaining."

Taft was welcomed by good-sized crowds in Ogden, on the campus of Utah State College in Logan and in Salt Lake City. Many of those who supported him in his unsuccessful bid for the GOP nomination wore "Taft" buttons.

He told an audience in Ogden that to hear President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, tell it "you'd think the world began 20 years ago." He declared:

Dunlap To Head Ike Group Here

John H. Dunlap Jr. of Williamsport has been named chairman of the Pickaway County "Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon" committee.

Eisenhower Angered At 'Lies' Being Peddled On Power Issue

BULLETIN

BOSTON, Oct. 16 — (AP)—President Truman declared Thursday afternoon it is Dwight D. Eisenhower's duty "to come and tell me right now" if the general has a cure for Korea.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower pointed his hard-driving campaign toward the Eastern Seaboard Thursday with scarcely a pause in the rush that has carried him to the Pacific Coast and back.

He flew into New York Wednesday night from a journey that started Sept. 30 and carried him through 28 states in 16 days.

In two stops in Tennessee Wednesday, he took pains to declare his election would not "impair the effective working out" of the Tennessee Valley Authority program.

In Oregon last week, the general spoke out in opposition to federal authorities as the means of developing river basin resources. He proposed instead a cooperative program in which local, state and federal officials would work out the problems together.

• • •

BUT HE SAID TVA should not be regarded as the "rigid pattern for such development in other regions." And he added that he favored an arrangement which would make state and federal agencies "true partners" in development.

A short time later in Knoxville, the general angrily took notice of a page advertisement which had appeared in Knoxville and Memphis newspapers. It was a reproduction of an editorial page of the Nashville Tennessean.

The caption on the cartoon said: "It would be beautiful, general."

Opposite the cartoon was an editorial titled "Look Out in the Valley!" In part, the editorial said Eisenhower's position on river basin development "was no more than an invitation to private power to 'come and get it.'"

Eisenhower denounced the advertisement as an example of "lies" that he said are being peddled against him—and he repeated that there was no truth in such charges.

• • •

HE SAID ANY insinuation that he was opposed to public power was a distortion and an example of "misguided mind reading."

Silliman Evans, publisher of the Tennessean, a Democratic morning newspaper, said in Nashville that Eisenhower's criticism of the editorial did not remove an assumption that he would favor private power interests.

Commenting on Eisenhower's remarks, Evans said:

"Of course, the general had some nice things to say about TVA's accomplishments to the people of Tennessee who are so fully aware of them.

"But he also said, 'We should not look upon the TVA as a rigid pattern. Our goal should be to work out river basin developments the way the people in the regions want it done.'

"What people does the general mean? If he means the people of this area who so overwhelmingly favor the TVA, why doesn't he say so? In the absence of such a statement, and in the face of his Western comments, it is all too clear that the people he means are those of the private power interests."

Stevenson Lashing Heavily Against Republican 'Crusade'

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign showed signs of catching fire Thursday as he lashed out with fresh vigor against Dwight D. Eisenhower's "crusade."

Flushed with the enthusiasm of his biggest and noisiest campaign meeting (in San Francisco Wednesday night), the Democratic presidential nominee accused Eisenhower of attempting to ride two political horses in California.

Scoffing at what Eisenhower calls his "crusade," Stevenson said his Republican opponent had felt it necessary to take different positions in different states. The Illinois governor declared in a speech prepared for delivery from the capitol steps in Sacramento:

"Here in California he has tried the delicate job of being both a Warren Republican and a Nixon Republican."

Stevenson repeated a virtual endorsement of Republican Gov. Earl Warren—an endorsement that won applause from a Democratic audience which bulged San Francisco's Cow Palace.

• • •

THE SAME audience, the most responsive he has had in his travels, booed lustily when he mentioned the name of Eisenhower's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

"My opponent in this campaign has made his peace—on their terms—with men who fear the future and hate the present," the Democratic nominee declared.

"What he still calls his crusade has been joined by men who stand only for a past that is dead and cannot be disinterred."

Stevenson heaped ridicule on what he said was the "team of isolationists and cut-throat reactionaries." He contended Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was quarterbacking for Eisenhower. He declared:

"From my mail, from the growth of switch clubs, I have a hunch that a lot of people, Republicans and independents, have decided that it is time for a change—to the Democratic ticket."

"They told us in July that the general had saved the nation from Taft," he said. "But in September, the general handed over his sword to the man from whom he had just saved the nation."

"The general tells us not to worry," he said. "Government, he says, is just a matter of teamwork. But that doesn't encourage us for we know the names and have the numbers of the players on the general's team. At quarterback, Sen. Taft."

• • •

"At right half—Sen. Jenner of Indiana. Only last week Sen. Jenner boasted again that what the general has been saying is 'what I have been saying throughout my six years in the United States Senate.' There is no more consistent isolationist, no more profound reactionary in the Senate than Jenner of Indiana."

The crowd rocked the rafters as he declared:

"The general's team is not the forward-looking Republicans who fought for his nomination in Chicago. It is the Old Guard and the Old Guard never changes—except for the worse. They don't even fade away."

5 Ohio Power Firms To Aid Atom Project

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Five Ohio power companies and 13 other utilities will undergo a $400 million construction program to supply electricity to $1.2 billion atomic energy plant to be built in Pike County.

The new combine, to be known as the Ohio Valley Electric Corp., will be headed by Philip Sporn, president of the American Gas and Electric Co.

The merger was made known in Washington Wednesday following signing of an agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission to furnish 1.8 million kilowatts of electricity to the Pike County plant when it is completed in about four years.

Engineers estimate the plant will use a total of 15 million kilowatt hours annually at an estimated annual cost of $60 million.

Sporn said two steam-generating plants will be built along the Ohio River—one in either Ohio or West Virginia and the other in Kentucky or Indiana. The two plants will produce 2.2 million kilowatts.

French Communist Editor Is Fined

LYON, Oct. 16—(AP)—A French criminal district court has convicted a Communist editor of harming the morale of the French Army and fined him about $60.

The editor, Georges Levy, was convicted Wednesday of having published false statements about the French army in his weekly newspaper, La Voix du Peuple.

Alaska Splits Vote Between Two Parties

JUNEAU, Oct. 16—(AP)—Alaskans apparently returned their Democratic delegate to Congress, but the first day's counting of Tuesday's general election vote showed a tide toward a Republican legislature.

Late returns from the Anchorage area Wednesday night boosted Delegate E. L. Bartlett's lead to nearly 2,400 votes— apparently decisive but whittled down sharply from his 2-1 victory margin of 1950.

In the political "weathervane" legislative races, the Republicans, who campaigned on the party's national "it's time for a change" slogan, had an edge for 26 out of 33 seats in the legislature.

Republicans were leading by varying margins for 19 of the 24 seats, for the whole territory, in the lower house. In the present legislature, the Democrats have held a 14 to 10 edge.

Republicans were leading for seven out of nine territorial senate seats. The incumbents were six Democrats and three Republicans.

Berger Board Makes Awards For New Work

Contracts totalling about $300,000 were officially executed for additions and remodeling at Berger hospital, Wednesday night at a special meeting of the Berger hospital board.

General contract and electric work was awarded to Sever Williams Co. of Washington C. H. for the amount of $221,364.20.

This firm built the new hospital in Washington C. H. and also in Wilmington.

Contract for plumbing and heating was awarded to Wisser and Gabler of Chillicothe for $69,962, and the contract for kitchen and dishwashing equipment in the amount of $6,404.67 went to the General Hotel Supply Co. of Columbus.

Board of commissioners of the hospital now is seeking sources of funds for items they were obliged to leave out of the contracts, in order to remain under the amount of funds available to them at this time.

A committee consisting of Mayor Ed Amey, president of the board, Durward Dowden, new member of the board, Mrs. Bradbury, superintendent of Berger hospital and Mrs. Joe Bell, president of the General Hospital Guild, was appointed to arrange for a "ground-breaking" ceremony to celebrate the beginning of the work at the hospital.

Work is expected to be completed in approximately one year from beginnng work on the additions and improvements needed for the accomodation of patients who are now being obliged to occupy rooms intended for a much smaller number of patients and often overflow into cots in the corridors.

No fancy frills were included in the original plans, the board said, so they realize that what they have recommended is what will be necessary to take care of the needs of the community for economic and efficient care of folks who need hospitalization.

Precinct 4-B Is Relocated

Voting Precinct 4-B has been changed in location for the Nov. 4 general election.

Mrs. Nellie Stout, clerk to the Pickaway County board of elections, said the precinct will be moved from the city garage to the Circleville Iron and Metal Works.

About Fourth Of Diggers On Job Thursday

UMW Chieftain Says Saturday Is Deadline For Work Stoppage

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Only one coal mine in Eastern Ohio was operating Thursday and only half the diggers in the Hocking area were on the job.

Reports from the two fields indicated only about 1,900 of their 8,400 miners were at work.

The approximately 6,500 miners who failed to report for work were protesting failure of the Wage Stabilization Board to approve the recently negotiated $1.90 - a - day wage increase. Hearings on the increase started only Wednesday.

Reports from nearly all the nation's coal fields indicated growing restlessness in the wake of a strike threat tossed at the industry by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union.

• • •

ONLY MINE operating in Eastern Ohio was Powhatan No. 3 near Bellaire. The mine employs 400. The rest of the 5,400 miners in the field are not working.

Some 1,500 miners, half the force, failed to show up for the morning shift Thursday in the Hocking field in Perry and Athens Counties, a field survey showed.

Walter Kovaleski of Chauncey, UMW representative in Division 1 of District 6, said he did not know how many miners were out or what mines were closed.

Several thousand miners are off the job to back up demands for a pay hike being held up pending approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. While there is no indication that the walkouts will spread quickly, both coal operators and the miners are keeping a close watch on Washington for developments.

The miners' anxiety over whether the WSB will approve the pay hike negotiated for them by Lewis was heightened Wednesday when

Tax Bureau About Half Reorganized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has itself about half reorganized.

Five new revenue districts have been set up since last May and are now operating in 13 states. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has announced dates in the next 10 days when three more districts, with 12 more states, will be put into operation.

Announcements are soon to come on two more districts, to contain at least four states. Changes are probable in the already-operating New York City and Chicago districts.

That makes 25 states functioning or soon to be functioning under President Truman's plan accepted last spring by Congress to take the scandal-buffeted tax bureau out of politics and break down its heavily centralized structure.

It brings all of the Northeast and most of the Atlantic Coast and Great Lakes region under reorganization. Yet to be reorganized are the West and the Midwest. The revenue bureau has promised to complete the reorganization by Dec. 1.

An informed source said the next new tax districts to be announced will have headquarters at Philadelphia and Seattle.

City Youth To Sing, TV To Boost Show

Sally Flowers is all set to give the 1952 Pumpkin Show another boost when a Circleville youth sings on her TV show program in Columbus Monday night.

John Graffis, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graffis of 325 East Corwin street, will sing on the WLW-C program beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Young Graffis, winner of several amateur singing contests, will be accompanied to Columbus by his father.

In making arrangements for his participaton, Sally queried the Graffis family on dates set for the Pumpkin Show and then suggested the boy sing on Monday night. She pointed out it will enable her to work "a touch of the Pumpkin Show" into her program.

"What he still calls his crusade has been joined by men who stand only for a past that is dead and cannot be disinterred."

Stevenson heaped ridicule on what he said was the "team of isolationists and cut-throat reactionaries." He contended Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was quarterbacking for Eisenhower. He declared:

"From my mail, from the growth of switch clubs, I have a hunch that a lot of people, Republicans and independents, have decided that it is time for a change—to the Democratic ticket."

"They told us in July that the general had saved the nation from Taft," he said. "But in September, the general handed over his sword to the man from whom he had just saved the nation."

"The general tells us not to worry," he said. "Government, he says, is just a matter of teamwork. But that doesn't encourage us for we know the names and have the numbers of the players on the general's team. At quarterback, Sen. Taft."

• • •

"At right half—Sen. Jenner of Indiana. Only last week Sen. Jenner boasted again that what the general has been saying is 'what I have been saying throughout my six years in the United States Senate.' There is no more consistent isolationist, no more profound reactionary in the Senate than Jenner of Indiana."

The crowd rocked the rafters as he declared:

"The general's team is not the forward-looking Republicans who fought for his nomination in Chicago. It is the Old Guard and the Old Guard never changes—except for the worse. They don't even fade away."

About Fourth Of Diggers On Job Thursday

UMW Chieftain Says Saturday Is Deadline For Work Stoppage

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Only one coal mine in Eastern Ohio was operating Thursday and only half the diggers in the Hocking area were on the job.

Reports from the two fields indicated only about 1,900 of their 8,400 miners were at work.

The approximately 6,500 miners who failed to report for work were protesting failure of the Wage Stabilization Board to approve the recently negotiated $1.90 - a - day wage increase. Hearings on the increase started only Wednesday.

Reports from nearly all the nation's coal fields indicated growing restlessness in the wake of a strike threat tossed at the industry by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union.

• • •

ONLY MINE operating in Eastern Ohio was Powhatan No. 3 near Bellaire. The mine employs 400. The rest of the 5,400 miners in the field are not working.

Some 1,500 miners, half the force, failed to show up for the morning shift Thursday in the Hocking field in Perry and Athens Counties, a field survey showed.

Walter Kovaleski of Chauncey, UMW representative in Division 1 of District 6, said he did not know how many miners were out or what mines were closed.

Several thousand miners are off the job to back up demands for a pay hike being held up pending approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. While there is no indication that the walkouts will spread quickly, both coal operators and the miners are keeping a close watch on Washington for developments.

The miners' anxiety over whether the WSB will approve the pay hike negotiated for them by Lewis was heightened Wednesday when

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—(AP)—State office-seekers, in a flurry of political activity in the waning days before the Nov. 4 elections, hopscotched across Ohio Wednesday to carry their campaign messages to the voters.

Sen. John W. Bricker, Republican seeking reelection, spoke of corruption in government, as his Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, talked about the U. S. approach to gaining world peace.

And to bolster the state and national party ticket, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, cited his party's exposure of corruption in government. Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich) told the National Apartment Owners Association at Cleveland that controls on prices, consumer credits and rents were part of the plan for the socialization of America.

• • •

In that group were Bricker; John W. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor; Secretary of State Ted W. Brown; James A. Rhodes, candidate for state auditor; State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy; Attorney General C. William O'Neill; Ohio Supreme Court Judge James Garfield Stewart and Francis B. Douglass, candidate for the state's highest court.

Thursday that caravan was to visit Ironton, Gallipolis, Pomeroy, Jackson, Waverly and Chillicothe. Friday and Saturday will find the group in McArthur, Logan, New Lexington and Zanesville.

Schedules of other candidates and speakers Thursday call for Lausche to speak in Cleveland, DiSalle in St. Marys, Kenton and Defiance and Kefauver in Scio.

In Marion, Gov. Lausche cited his administration's efforts to suppress crop, poultry and livestock diseases; in enforcement against delivery of inferior quality seed, and enlargement of inspection of agricultural products, along with state animal disease control work.

In Cleveland, Taft said polls "show the Democrat governor losing three per cent of the percentage of the vote he had in 1950. This three per cent shift will be enough to defeat him. However, I feel my victory will be by more than a small margin."

• • •

BRICKER, speaking in Circleville, Washington C. H. and Portsmouth, said "There are many honest and patriotic Democrats who are weary of the stink arising from New Deal corruption in Washington. The honest Democrats whose party has been stolen away from them are going to vote Republican."

Kefauver, former head of a Senate crime investigating committee, said in Dayton "All of the exposures of corruption made so far in Washington have been made by Democrats. We want to carry on the work and we'll have the backing of Stevenson in doing it."

'Bread, Butter' Tied To Poll, Truman Says

BOSTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—President Truman told New England voters Thursday that their "bread and butter" and their chance for world peace are tied up in the 1952 election.

And he renewed his onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by saying the GOP presidential nominee has abetted Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's "scurrilous, big-lie attack" on Gen. George C. Marshall.

Truman derided the Republican slogan—"It's time for a change"—and declared, "No party is entitled to power because it lost too many elections in the past."

"The Republicans lost because they've put in 20 years of blind, thoughtless opposition to almost everything the Democratic Party has done to help the ordinary citizen. They lost because they've been dominated by special privilege, by the lobbies — because they've always voted with the special interests and against the people.

"They lost because they've been against minorities of all kinds, against the immigration into this country of Jews and Catholics, against equality of opportunity."

He said the Republican slogan, "I want a change," may be an appealing one, and added:

"I want a change, too. But I want a change that will not destroy all the good we've done."

Dunlap To Head Ike Group Here

John H. Dunlap Jr. of Williamsport has been named chairman of the Pickaway County "Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon" committee.

With the appointment, Dunlap is to direct formation of Ike Clubs and do additional promotion work in the area.

Following his appointment, Dunlap named Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of near Lockbourne, chairman of the Pickaway County Republican Women's Club, as co-chairman of the new committee.

15 Girls Listed To Compete In Beauty Contest

Fifteen girls, each representing a high school in this area, will compete on the first night of the 1952 Pumpkin Show for the coveted title of "Miss Pumpkin Show."

First, second and third prizes will be awarded in the contest following the "Beauty Parade" at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday.

Sigma Phi Gamma sorority is again in charge of arrangements for the event under leadership of Mrs. George Helwagen, president of the local chapter.

The list of contestants and their schools as announced by the sorority is as follows:

Taft Delivers Blistering Rap Against Dems

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio stumped Utah Wednesday in an effort to unite his preconvention supporters behind Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee.

He delivered blistering attacks upon administration foreign policy, "corruption in government" and defended the Taft-Hartley labor law as an act to "keep the government from interfering in collective bargaining."

Taft was welcomed by good-sized crowds in Ogden, on the campus of Utah State College in Logan and in Salt Lake City. Many of those who supported him in his unsuccessful bid for the GOP nomination wore "Taft" buttons.

He told an audience in Ogden that to hear President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, tell it "you'd think the world began 20 years ago." He declared:

Oil Tiff Grows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — (AP)—U. S. officials said Thursday Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's decision to break diplomatic relations with Britain has "knocked sky high" the efforts to find a solution to the British-Iranian oil dispute.

5 Ohio Power Firms To Aid Atom Project

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Five Ohio power companies and 13 other utilities will undergo a $400 million construction program to supply electricity to $1.2 billion atomic energy plant to be built in Pike County.

The new combine, to be known as the Ohio Valley Electric Corp., will be headed by Philip Sporn, president of the American Gas and Electric Co.

The merger was made known in Washington Wednesday following signing of an agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission to furnish 1.8 million kilowatts of electricity to the Pike County plant when it is completed in about four years.

Engineers estimate the plant will use a total of 15 million kilowatt hours annually at an estimated annual cost of $60 million.

Sporn said two steam-generating plants will be built along the Ohio River—one in either Ohio or West Virginia and the other in Kentucky or Indiana. The two plants will produce 2.2 million kilowatts.

French Communist Editor Is Fined

LYON, Oct. 16—(AP)—A French criminal district court has convicted a Communist editor of harming the morale of the French Army and fined him about $60.

The editor, Georges Levy, was convicted Wednesday of having published false statements about the French army in his weekly newspaper, La Voix du Peuple.

Alaska Splits Vote Between Two Parties

JUNEAU, Oct. 16—(AP)—Alaskans apparently returned their Democratic delegate to Congress, but the first day's counting of Tuesday's general election vote showed a tide toward a Republican legislature.

Late returns from the Anchorage area Wednesday night boosted Delegate E. L. Bartlett's lead to nearly 2,400 votes— apparently decisive but whittled down sharply from his 2-1 victory margin of 1950.

In the political "weathervane" legislative races, the Republicans, who campaigned on the party's national "it's time for a change" slogan, had an edge for 26 out of 33 seats in the legislature.

Republicans were leading by varying margins for 19 of the 24 seats, for the whole territory, in the lower house. In the present legislature, the Democrats have held a 14 to 10 edge.

Republicans were leading for seven out of nine territorial senate seats. The incumbents were six Democrats and three Republicans.

Berger Board Makes Awards For New Work

Contracts totalling about $300,000 were officially executed for additions and remodeling at Berger hospital, Wednesday night at a special meeting of the Berger hospital board.

General contract and electric work was awarded to Sever Williams Co. of Washington C. H. for the amount of $221,364.20.

This firm built the new hospital in Washington C. H. and also in Wilmington.

Contract for plumbing and heating was awarded to Wisser and Gabler of Chillicothe for $69,962, and the contract for kitchen and dishwashing equipment in the amount of $6,404.67 went to the General Hotel Supply Co. of Columbus.

Board of commissioners of the hospital now is seeking sources of funds for items they were obliged to leave out of the contracts, in order to remain under the amount of funds available to them at this time.

Work is expected to be completed in approximately one year from beginnng work on the additions and improvements needed for the accomodation of patients who are now being obliged to occupy rooms intended for a much smaller number of patients and often overflow into cots in the corridors.

No fancy frills were included in the original plans, the board said, so they realize that what they have recommended is what will be neccessary to take care of the needs of the community for economic and efficient care of folks who need hospitalization.

Precinct 4-B Is Relocated

Voting Precinct 4-B has been changed in location for the Nov. 4 general election.

Mrs. Nellie Stout, clerk to the Pickaway County board of elections, said the precinct will be moved from the city garage to the Circleville Iron and Metal Works.

City Youth To Sing, TV To Boost Show

Sally Flowers is all set to give the 1952 Pumpkin Show another boost when a Circleville youth sings on her TV show program in Columbus Monday night.

John Graffis, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graffis of 325 East Corwin street, will sing on the WLW-C program beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Young Graffis, winner of several amateur singing contests, will be accompanied to Columbus by his father.

In making arrangements for his participaton, Sally queried the Graffis family on dates set for the Pumpkin Show and then suggested the boy sing on Monday night. She pointed out it will enable her to work "a touch of the Pumpkin Show" into her program.

Tax Bureau About Half Reorganized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has itself about half reorganized.

Five new revenue districts have been set up since last May and are now operating in 13 states. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has announced dates in the next 10 days when three more districts, with 12 more states, will be put into operation.

Announcements are soon to come on two more districts, to contain at least four states. Changes are probable in the already-operating New York City and Chicago districts.

That makes 25 states functioning or soon to be functioning under President Truman's plan accepted last spring by Congress to take the scandal-buffeted tax bureau out of politics and break down its heavily centralized structure.

It brings all of the Northeast and most of the Atlantic Coast and Great Lakes region under reorganization. Yet to be reorganized are the West and the Midwest. The revenue bureau has promised to complete the reorganization by Dec. 1.

An informed source said the next new tax districts to be announced will have headquarters at Philadelphia and Seattle.

Verdict Of Suicide By Hanging Given In Death Of Mrs. Bushee

A verdict of suicide in the hanging death of Mrs. Golda Bushee, 56, of Whisler, was issued Thursday by Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ned Griner.

Dr. Griner said evidence at the scene and results of an autopsy pointed conclusively to suicide by the Whisler woman.

Mrs. Bushee was found hanging dead Monday afternoon in an outshed at her home, while her husband, Edward Bushee, 60, was found lying in a bed in the upstairs of the house suffering two bullet wounds.

The husband was rushed into Berger hospital from the scene and, after hearing of his wife's death, revised a statement which he made in his house before officials and neighbors.

Mr. Bushee was reported in good condition and improving Thursday in the hospital.

* * *

DR. GRINER said he based his verdict on the lack of evidence at the scene, where there was no indication she had met with violence; and from the appearance of her body, which examination failed to show any marks or bruises.

He added, further, his verdict also was based on the revised statement of the husband, which was recorded by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and special investigators Wednesday in Berger hospital.

Examination also revealed the woman died of suffocation and not from a fractured neck, as earlier believed.

After hearing Bushee's statement Wednesday, Sheriff Radcliff said he was convinced the wife had shot her husband, even though paraffin tests on both parties showed negative results.

"He said she was very jealous," Radcliff said after recording Mr. Bushee's statement.

Special investigators with the Mobile crime lab which aided local authorities in the case were continuing investigation Thursday, however, in an effort to wrap up all of the remaining loose ends of the incident.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bushee were held Thursday morning.

Small Animals Have Parasite Problems, Too

Dog and cat owners could keep their pets 50 percent more healthy if they would keep the animals free of parasites.

So says the American Veterinary Medical Association, reporting today on a series of studies as to the causes of disease in small animals.

Late findings indicate that at least half of the diseases of dogs and cats are related directly or indirectly to parasites, says the AVMA. Some parasites have disease-producing properties of their own. Others may so weaken an animal that it becomes more easily susceptible to other diseases.

"Key to ridding pets of the parasite problem consists of two primary measures," the AVMA suggests. "First, clean quarters and sanitation at all times, coupled with proper antiparasitic treatments as needed. Second, breaking the life cycle of the parasites by preventing re-exposure to them."

Avoid Skunks For 2 Reasons

There is more than the one obvious reason for staying clear of a skunk.

In addition to their offensive odors, skunks are also very susceptible to rabies.

In fact, skunks have been involved in many rural outbreaks of this disease during the last year.

Other wild animals, including foxes, coyotes, jackals, porcupines, raccoons and weasels are also potential rabies-spreaders. Suspect any such animal that acts tame or friendly.

However, veterinarians say the real key to rabies control is vaccination of dogs. If dogs are immunized against this disease, a good share of the costly livestock losses caused by rabies can be avoided.

Quarantines Extended On Swine Disease

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—New federal quarantines were imposed Thursday in areas of six states a result of the swine disease vesicular exanthema.

For the first time, the Agriculture Department added Michigan and Texas to the list of states in which the disease has appeared. A total of 27 states have now been affected since the disease was first identified outside the State of California last June.

Most of the new infection found has been among garbage-fed hogs, "strongly indicating that garbage from urban areas is spreading the disease," the department said in a statement.

Federal quarantines are now in effect in all of California and some portions of Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma and Texas.

Slav Admits Spy Work For Soviet

MUNICH, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Darko Circovic, 42-year-old Yugoslav national, has pleaded guilty to charges of spying for Russia. He was arraigned in a U. S. High Commission court Wednesday and will be tried Oct. 24.

Circovic said last month he handed over to a Russian in Munich the names of 16 Allied secret agents and also told him about American troop strength in Munich and gave him the plans of two barracks.

Hoover Plan Helps, But Savings Small

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — (AP)—A Senate committee has credited the Hoover commission with helping to improve the efficiency of the federal government but says the resultant savings proposals had been greatly exaggerated.

A report of the Senate Committee on Government Operations summarized action taken by the last two Congresses on recommendations of the Commission on Government Reorganization set up under the chairmanship of former President Herbert Hoover.

The Senate committee said the Hoover Commission made 281 specific recommendations, adding that an estimated 90 per cent of these have been fully considered and have received direct action by the Congress or its committees, either favorable or unfavorable.

Still remaining are 28 recommendations "which will require further action by the Congress if adequate consideration is to be given to them," the report said.

Turning directly to the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, the Senate committee said this group had failed to offer "any support for its claim that eventual annual savings would aggregate four billion dollars."

Newsboy, 68, Planning To Retire Nov. 1

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16—(AP)—Jimmy Widmeyer, fabulous newsboy who for years was driven to his sales corner either in one of the country's highest priced automobiles or in his station wagon, is going to retire Nov. 1.

Jimmy, now 68, made $1 million on the stock exchange several years ago, lost it all in the crash, then regained a fortune in shrewd business enterprises.

Through it all, however, he has hawked his newspapers and magazines on the southwest corner of Fifth and Walnut Streets in downtown Cincinnati. He has had that newspaper station for 60 years.

He has journeyed around the world three times, boxed professionally, played amateur baseball, was so well liked by his customers they bought him an expensive watch, and has been in demand as an after-dinner speaker.

"I'm getting too old to fight the winters from this street corner," Jimmy declared. "I'm not sure what I'm going to do. I may just take it easy. Or, I might decide to take one of the several good offers that have been made to me."

Brazil Airliner Crash Kills 14

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Oct. 16—(AP)—Rescue workers Thursday were moving out the bodies of 14 persons killed in the flaming crash of a Brazilian airliner. Four survivors were being treated in hospitals.

Acheson Due To Spell Out U.S. Policy

The UN General Assembly begins its opening policy debate Thursday and Acheson is expected to speak either late Thursday or Friday, depending on the length of time required by eight other delegates to be heard before him.

Informed sources said the secretary's remarks on the Korean crisis would be of a broad, general nature rather than the tough demand for Red acceptance of a Korean armistice on UN terms which many delegates here had expected him to make.

Strong pressure from American Allies was said to have induced Acheson to hold off on specific demands until Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky is heard.

The Russians indicated Wednesday that they were eager to get the Korean debate going before the American presidential elections and before the British and French foreign ministers arrive.

Czechoslovakia introduced a surprise proposal that the UN discuss condemning the United States Mutual Security Act. The Czechs charged that it aimed at interfering aggressively in the internal affairs of Communist countries by financing "subversion, sabotage, espionage and terorrism" inside their territory.

Czechoslovakia's Jiri Nosek said U. S. agents "have been caught red-handed inside the Soviet Union," but he gave no further details.

Baton-Twirl Event Draws Record List

Entries for the baton-twirling contest in this year's Pumpkin Show have hit a new all-time high.

Twenty-seven contestants have signed to compete so far in the event which is scheduled for 9:30 p. m. on the show's last day.

The contest, sponsored this year by Circleville American Legion drum and bugle corps, has drawn entries from several nearby counties as well as from Pickaway County.

Phyllis Dresbach, winner of the title for the last three years, will compete again this year. She is drum major of the Circleville high school band.

the mine chieftain told his members to refuse to work after Nov. 18 unless mine operators have made their increased royalty payments to the UMW welfare fund by that date.

The contract, now up before the WSB, called for an increase in the royalty payments of from 30 to 40 cents a ton in the soft coalfields. The contract also provides a wage boost of $1.90 a day.

IN WINDING up the UMW convention in Cincinnati, Lewis told delegates the contract specifies that each operator certify by Nov. 18, and the 18th of each month thereafter, that he has paid the royalty covering production for the previous month. Lewis added:

"I don't want any union to go to work on the 18th unless it is found that the welfare is paid. There are no ifs, and buts about it. The morning of the 18th is the deadline."

Shortly after Lewis spoke five Southern West Virginia mines employing some 2,100 men were closed by a walkout.

Closest source to the UMW said the men apparently stayed home awaiting the WSB's approval of the pay hike.

Approximately 3,155 Kentucky miners were reported on strike. Another 1,200 were off the job at four mines of Republic Steel Corp. in Western Pennsylvania. There were smaller groups out in Illinois.

From Washington came reports the WSB is expected to reach a vote by the end of this week.

St. Paul's Sword Is Stolen Again

ROME, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Thieves have stolen, for the second time in recent months, a sword from the statue of St. Paul in front of Rome's Castel Santangelo.

After the previous theft, Rome's Fine Arts Division had a replacement sword made.

2 Men Held For Jury, 3rd Draws Fine

Two men were bound for action by Pickaway County grand jury and another was fined after hearings in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root.

Earl H. Congrove, 23, of Laurelville Route 2, was sent to Pickaway County jail after a hearing Thursday when he was unable to furnish a bond totalling $2,000.

Two affidavits were filed against him by Robert George, alleging two bad checks totaling about $450.

Congrove was bound to the jury on $500 for each of the checks.

HE WAS also bound to the jury on $1,000 bond on an affidavit filed by George W. Meyers, assistant cashier of the Second National Bank here. Congrove was accused of taking a mortgaged car out of the state without consent of the bank.

Arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards.

Homer Boggs, 30, of Chillicothe, was bound to the jury on $500 bond after a hearing in which he was accused of non-support by his wife, Rosemary. Cash bond was furnished.

Edgar M. Turvey, 26, of Tarlton, was fined $10 and costs in a hearing Wednesday for reckless operation of a motor vehicle.

Crippled Children Society Gives Public Reminder

Local residents anxious to help the cause of crippled children were reminded Thursday that Pickaway County has an organization set to give aid and advice toward that goal.

Mrs. Clark Alexander, president of Pickaway County Crippled Children Society, said:

"Ever since it was organized two years ago the Society has been handling cases brought to its attention. We want to remind the public that people interested in such efforts should contact any one of our officers or committee heads."

New officers of the society were recently elected.

* * *

IN ADDITION to Mrs. Alexander, they are: Anna Chandler, vice-president; Esther Work, secretary; and Mary K. Kennedy, treasurer.

Committee heads were named as follows: Mame Groome and Helen Pickens, health and welfare; Mildred Beaver, sales tax and Easter seals; Mrs. Walter Heine, education; Ben Gordon and Mrs. Ned Griner, recreation.

The society's next meeting will be held Nov. 18.

Machineguns Chop Up Reds In Hill Battle

SEOUL, Oct. 16—(AP)—American machinegunners, crouching behind barbed wire barricades, Thursday mowed down waves of Chinese Reds storming the crest of Triangle Hill on the central Korean front.

Savage fighting also swirled across the crest of rocky Pinpoint Hill, dominant peak on nearby Sniper Ridge. Twice the Reds stormed to the top and wrested control in bloody close - quarter fighting. Each time the South Koreans surged back and rewon the height.

Allied warplanes swarmed overhead and peeled off in trip-hammer blows. UN artillery blasted Chinese approach routes and raked towering Papa San Mountain, the Chinese northern jumpoff point.

When U. S. 7th Division troops captured Triangle Hill Wednesday they ringed the crest with barbed wire. They were ready and waiting when about 800 Chinese swarmed up the slopes just after dark.

The assaulting force was chopped to bits by machinegun slugs.

Fall's Coldest Weather Noted

Verdict Of Suicide By Hanging Given In Death Of Mrs. Bushee

A verdict of suicide in the hanging death of Mrs. Golda Bushee, 56, of Whisler, was issued Thursday by Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ned Griner.

Dr. Griner said evidence at the scene and results of an autopsy pointed conclusively to suicide by the Whisler woman.

Mrs. Bushee was found hanging dead Monday afternoon in an outshed at her home, while her husband, Edward Bushee, 60, was found lying in a bed in the upstairs of the house suffering two bullet wounds.

The husband was rushed into Berger hospital from the scene and, after hearing of his wife's death, revised a statement which he made in his house before officials and neighbors.

Mr. Bushee was reported in good condition and improving Thursday in the hospital.

* * *

DR. GRINER said he based his verdict on the lack of evidence at the scene, where there was no indication she had met with violence; and from the appearance of her body, which examination failed to show any marks or bruises.

He added, further, his verdict also was based on the revised statement of the husband, which was recorded by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and special investigators Wednesday in Berger hospital.

Examination also revealed the woman died of suffocation and not from a fractured neck, as earlier believed.

After hearing Bushee's statement Wednesday, Sheriff Radcliff said he was convinced the wife had shot her husband, even though paraffin tests on both parties showed negative results.

"He said she was very jealous," Radcliff said after recording Mr. Bushee's statement.

Special investigators with the Mobile crime lab which aided local authorities in the case were continuing investigation Thursday, however, in an effort to wrap up all of the remaining loose ends of the incident.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bushee were held Thursday morning.

Small Animals Have Parasite Problems, Too

Dog and cat owners could keep their pets 50 percent more healthy if they would keep the animals free of parasites.

So says the American Veterinary Medical Association, reporting today on a series of studies as to the causes of disease in small animals.

Late findings indicate that at least half of the diseases of dogs and cats are related directly or indirectly to parasites, says the AVMA. Some parasites have disease-producing properties of their own. Others may so weaken an animal that it becomes more easily susceptible to other diseases.

"Key to ridding pets of the parasite problem consists of two primary measures," the AVMA suggests. "First, clean quarters and sanitation at all times, coupled with proper antiparasitic treatments as needed. Second, breaking the life cycle of the parasites by preventing re-exposure to them."

Avoid Skunks For 2 Reasons

There is more than the one obvious reason for staying clear of a skunk.

In addition to their offensive odors, skunks are also very susceptible to rabies.

In fact, skunks have been involved in many rural outbreaks of this disease during the last year.

Other wild animals, including foxes, coyotes, jackals, porcupines, raccoons and weasels are also potential rabies-spreaders. Suspect any such animal that acts tame or friendly.

However, veterinarians say the real key to rabies control is vaccination of dogs. If dogs are immunized against this disease, a good share of the costly livestock losses caused by rabies can be avoided.

Quarantines Extended On Swine Disease

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—New federal quarantines were imposed Thursday in areas of six states a a result of the swine disease vesicular exanthema.

For the first time, the Agriculture Department added Michigan and Texas to the list of states in which the disease has appeared. A total of 27 states have now been affected since the disease was first identified outside the State of California last June.

Most of the new infection found has been among garbage-fed hogs, "strongly indicating that garbage from urban areas is spreading the disease," the department said in a statement.

Federal quarantines are now in effect in all of California and some portions of Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma and Texas.

Hoover Plan Helps, But Savings Small

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — (AP)—A Senate committee has credited the Hoover commission with helping to improve the efficiency of the federal government but says the resultant savings proposals had been greatly exaggerated.

A report of the Senate Committee on Government Operations summarized action taken by the last two Congresses on recommendations of the Commission on Government Reorganization set up under the chairmanship of former President Herbert Hoover.

The Senate committee said the Hoover Commission made 281 specific recommendations, adding that an estimated 90 per cent of these have been fully considered and have received direct action by the Congress or its committees, either favorable or unfavorable.

Still remaining are 28 recommendations "which will require further action by the Congress if adequate consideration is to be given to them," the report said.

Turning directly to the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, the Senate committee said this group had failed to offer "any support for its claim that eventual annual savings would aggregate four billion dollars."

Newsboy, 68, Planning To Retire Nov. 1

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16—(AP)—Jimmy Widmeyer, fabulous newsboy who for years was driven to his sales corner either in one of the country's highest priced automobiles or in his station wagon, is going to retire Nov. 1.

Jimmy, now 68, made $1 million on the stock exchange several years ago, lost it all in the crash, then regained a fortune in shrewd business enterprises.

Through it all, however, he has hawked his newspapers and magazines on the southwest corner of Fifth and Walnut Streets in downtown Cincinnati. He has had that newspaper station for 60 years.

He has journeyed around the world three times, boxed professionally, played amateur baseball, was so well liked by his customers they bought him an expensive watch, and has been in demand as an after-dinner speaker.

"I'm getting too old to fight the winters from this street corner," Jimmy declared. "I'm not sure what I'm going to do. I may just take it easy. Or, I might decide to take one of the several good offers that have been made to me."

Brazil Airliner Crash Kills 14

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Oct. 16—(AP)—Rescue workers Thursday were moving out the bodies of 14 persons killed in the flaming crash of a Brazilian airliner. Four survivors were being treated in hospitals.

The DC3, operated by Aerovias Brasil, crashed Tuesday in a dense wood on a farm near Sao Francisco de Paula, about 54 miles northeast of here. Search planes located the wreck Wednesday and rescue parties, struggling through heavy mud, reached the site a few hours later.

Acheson Due To Spell Out U.S. Policy

The UN General Assembly begins its opening policy debate Thursday and Acheson is expected to speak either late Thursday or Friday, depending on the length of time required by eight other delegates to be heard before him.

Informed sources said the secretary's remarks on the Korean crisis would be of a broad, general nature rather than the tough demand for Red acceptance of a Korean armistice on UN terms which many delegates here had expected him to make.

Strong pressure from American Allies was said to have induced Acheson to hold off on specific demands until Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky is heard.

The Russians indicated Wednesday that they were eager to get the Korean debate going before the American presidential elections and before the British and French foreign ministers arrive.

Czechoslovakia introduced a surprise proposal that the UN discuss condemning the United States Mutual Security Act. The Czechs charged that it aimed at interfering aggressively in the internal affairs of Communist countries by financing "subversion, sabotage, espionage and terorrism" inside their territory.

Czechoslovakia's Jiri Nosek said U. S. agents "have been caught red-handed inside the Soviet Union," but he gave no further details.

Baton-Twirl Event Draws Record List

Entries for the baton-twirling contest in this year's Pumpkin Show have hit a new all-time high.

Twenty-seven contestants have signed to compete so far in the event which is scheduled for 9:30 p. m. on the show's last day.

The contest, sponsored this year by Circleville American Legion drum and bugle corps, has drawn entries from several nearby counties as well as from Pickaway County.

Phyllis Dresbach, winner of the title for the last three years, will compete again this year. She is drum major of the Circleville high school band.

Machineguns Chop Up Reds In Hill Battle

SEOUL, Oct. 16—(AP)—American machinegunners, crouching behind barbed wire barricades, Thursday mowed down waves of Chinese Reds storming the crest of Triangle Hill on the central Korean front.

Savage fighting also swirled across the crest of rocky Pinpoint Hill, dominant peak on nearby Sniper Ridge. Twice the Reds stormed to the top and wrested control in bloody close - quarter fighting. Each time the South Koreans surged back and rewon the height.

Allied warplanes swarmed overhead and peeled off in trip-hammer blows. UN artillery blasted Chinese approach routes and raked towering Papa San Mountain, the Chinese northern jumpoff point.

When U. S. 7th Division troops captured Triangle Hill Wednesday they ringed the crest with barbed wire. They were ready and waiting when about 800 Chinese swarmed up the slopes just after dark.

The assaulting force was chopped to bits by machinegun slugs.

Fall's Coldest Weather Noted

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—The coldest weather of the fall season hit wide areas in the Midwest Thursday. Snow fell in some sections of the sub-freezing belt. Another cool front extended over some Eastern states.

The weather bureau reported a five-inch snow fall at International Falls, Minn. Light snow fell over the Northern Great Lakes region and in Western North Dakota. It was a frosty 13 above in Grand Forks, N. D. The cold air headed southeast and eastward.

Rotary Bulletin Hints At Long Show History

The possibility that the Hopewell Indians may have had their own version of the Pumpkin Show here more than 1,000 years ago has been underlined by the latest issue of "Rotary Flashes," weekly news bulletin for the local Rotary club.

The Club's news circular points out facts already known on that early tribe strongly suggest that gatherings were held in the Fall to display products and to celebrate the season.

Explaining the theory, the bulletin, prepared by Mac Noggle of Circleville, continues:

"There is reason to believe that the religious system of the Mound Builders wielded among them a vast controlling influence, and their government may have been one in which religious leaders exercised complete civil control.

• •

THE SQUARE and Circle works of Circleville were more expressly designed for the celebration of religious and superstitious rites, and on a large scale. However, no less an authority than Caleb Atwater, one of the early writers on American antiquities, thought that because of their size, these works may have served several purposes —that it may, in addition to being a place of worship, have been an amphitheatre where games were played, where great councils were held and a market where the products of the harvest were displayed and marketed.

"Remember—these early Indians were not nomadic and were good farmers, cultivating corn, beans and no doubt pumpkins.

"They had a high degree of skill in the art of making pottery vessels, urns, pipes and sculpture —also jewelry of metals, mica, ivory, shells and other materials. They were adept in the flaking of implements from flint, granite and the volcanic rock, obsidian.

There is considerable evidence to prove that there was a highly competitive spirit in the skills of these people and also much trading within a tribe and with other tribes. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to suppose that, at each of the great gatherings in the Fall after harvest, within the Circle and Square, there was a great display of the products of the land and the handiwork of these ancient Hopewell Indians.

BATTLE-HARDENED AND WEARY MEMBERS of a 9th Republic of Korea Army mortar team pour shell after shell at reinforced Chinese troops seeking to recapture strategic "White Horse Hill." The Reds, counter-attacking from a toehold on the northern tip of the hill, were putting up a fierce fight to regain the peak, which has changed hands more than twelve times in one week. *(Defense Dept. 'Knight' Ike's Armor 'Tarnished'

OBERLIN, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Oberlin College student newspaper has called Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "a knight in tarnished armor, beautifully reading what others have written for him" and willing to "trade his principles for a handful of votes."

"There is a note of genuine tragedy, a note which becomes more evident every time the general stands in front of a microphone," said an editorial on the GOP presidential candidate in the Oberlin Review this week.

Cartilage Packed For Medics Now

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Cartilage packed in glass jars for use in plastic surgery can now be bought by doctors.

The material, used as the base on which to build new chins, noses and ears, is taken from the ends of the breastbones of freshly slaughtered steers. Cleaned and trimmed, it forms a soft, white, rubbery half moon about 4 by 2 inches and up to one half inch in thickness.

Rotary Bulletin Hints At Long Show History

The possibility that the Hopewell Indians may have had their own version of the Pumpkin Show here more than 1,000 years ago has been underlined by the latest issue of "Rotary Flashes," weekly news bulletin for the local Rotary club.

The Club's news circular points out facts already known on that early tribe strongly suggest that gatherings were held in the Fall to display products and to celebrate the season.

Explaining the theory, the bulletin, prepared by Mac Noggle of Circleville, continues:

"There is reason to believe that the religious system of the Mound Builders wielded among them a vast controlling influence, and their government may have been one in which religious leaders exercised complete civil control.

* * *

THE SQUARE and Circle works of Circleville were more expressly designed for the celebration of religious and superstitious rites, and on a large scale. However, no less an authority than Caleb Atwater, one of the early writers on American antiquities, thought that because of their size, these works may have served several purposes —that it may, in addition to being a place of worship, have been an amphitheatre where games were played, where great councils were held and a market where the products of the harvest were displayed and marketed.

"Remember—these early Indians were not nomadic and were good farmers, cultivating corn, beans and no doubt pumpkins.

"They had a high degree of skill in the art of making pottery vessels, urns, pipes and sculpture —also jewelry of metals, mica, ivory, shells and other materials. They were adept in the flaking of implements from flint, granite and the volcanic rock, obsidian.

There is considerable evidence to prove that there was a highly competitive spirit in the skills of these people and also much trading within a tribe and with other tribes. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to suppose that, at each of the great gatherings in the Fall after harvest, within the Circle and Square, there was a great display of the products of the land and the handiwork of these ancient Hopewell Indians.

'Knight' Ike's Armor 'Tarnished'

OBERLIN, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Oberlin College student newspaper has called Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "a knight in tarnished armor, beautifully reading what others have written for him" and willing to "trade his principles for a handful of votes."

"There is a note of genuine tragedy, a note which becomes more evident every time the general stands in front of a microphone," said an editorial on the GOP presidential candidate in the Oberlin Review this week.

Cartilage Packed For Medics Now

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Cartilage packed in glass jars for use in plastic surgery can now be bought by doctors.

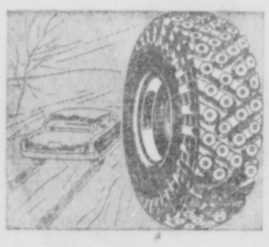

The material, used as the base on which to build new chins, noses and ears, is taken from the ends of the breastbones of freshly slaughtered steers. Cleaned and trimmed, it forms a soft, white, rubbery half moon about 4 by 2 inches and up to one half inch in thickness.

Mrs. Heine Selected President For New County Health Group

Pickaway County Health Council was organized Wednesday night at a meeting featured by an impressive turnout and thorough discussion of the unit's governing document.

The council, designed as a composite organization to unite in support of various health measures, came formally into existence with approval of its constitution and election of officers.

Disinterested observers regarded the meeting's turnout—about 40 group spokesmen and interested individuals—as a promising sign for the council's initial efforts. They pointed out the number in attendance included many who were authorized to speak for much larger organizations in the county.

Next step in the council's procedure is to have those representatives report back to their own organizations and achieve a full working understanding between their groups and the council. The council's next meeting is set for January.

• • •

MRS. WALTER HEINE of East Mound street was elected president of the new council, at least until the January session, after Bob Smithers of the Farm Bureau declined the post.

Dr. D. S. Goldschmidt, chairman of the steering committee which paved the way for the council setup, presided at the meeting during a long discussion of the council's constitution and the election of officers.

Emphasizing that the council will not be able to turn serious consideration to any proposed projects prior to January, Mrs. Heine agreed to serve in the head post until that time.

Others named to serve with her were:

Dr. Goldschmidt, vice-president; Dr. Ray Carroll, treasurer; Mrs. Russell Hedges; corresponding secretary; and Mrs. George Macklin of Circleville Route 4, recording secretary.

Nearly two hours of the meeting was spent in revising wording of the constitution before it was approved. A deep interest in the council's formation and long-range potential was reflected by involved discussions over the phrasing used in several of the constitutional sections.

• • •

BEFORE TURNING the meeting over to Mrs. Heine, Dr. Goldschmidt warned that the momentum achieved Wednesday night would be wasted unless those present for the many participating units "carry back the message of this gathering and keep your groups fully in touch with us."

Discussion during the election of officers touched upon the necessity of having adequate representation for groups outside Circleville. It was also stressed in this connection that representatives from such county areas must be prepared when necessary to help lead the new organization.

Mrs. Heine, looking forward to the January meeting, reminded the various spokesmen that they should "come back at that time with suggestions as to what projects the council might well consider."

Illustrating the type of possible lines of effort, Mrs. Clark Alexander, president of Pickaway County Crippled Children society, mentioned special education for physically handicapped children.

Mrs. Heine in turn described as "excellent" a proposal made recently by Dr. A. D. Blackburn in a story published by The Circleville Herald. The county health commissioner drew to the council's attention a serious lack in the state field of preventive medicine.

The Wednesday night meeting was held in Circleville Elks lodge.

Less Accidents For Old Cars

DENVER—(AP)— A Colorado official came up with some rather surprising statistics for those who might think old, worn automobiles are responsible for most fatal highway accidents.

C. P. Fugate, director of the state revenue department, said 192 motor vehicles were adjudged at fault in accidents which caused 221 deaths in Colorado up to Sept. 1. Of these cars, 138 were postwar models and only 20 of them had been manufactured by 1939.

Rabies Battle Won In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—The district health commission of Franklin County Wednesday won a court fight to require annual vaccination of dogs against rabies.

The Ohio supreme court dismissed the action of a Columbus man to upset the regulation affecting Franklin County. Donald Stubbs and others had sought an injunction against the regulation.

Wholesale Food Prices Decline

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, declined this week to the lowest level since early May.

At $6.38 the index compared with $6.44 last week and was down 5.8 per cent from $6.77 a year ago. The year's low to date was $6.31 on April 22, and the high so far was $6.70, posted in the weeks of Aug. 26 and Sept. 2.

Red Propaganda Made In German

WITH THE U.S. 2ND DIVISION IN KOREA—(AP)—The Chinese Communists recently directed a night-long propaganda barrage at Dutch troops on T-bone hill in Western Korea—but apparently lacked a Dutch-speaking Chinese.

The broadcast was spoken in German "with an atrocious accent," reported the service newspaper Stars and Stripes. The paper said the German-speaking voice told the Dutch troops "we are here with three Army Corps. We will bring peace."

The Dutch unit said it was the first time the troops could recall a Red propaganda appeal in German.

OUST RED TEACHERS

BECAUSE MOST of the known Communists in the United States seem to have concentrated their activities in the New York City area, the recent action of that city's board of education in firing nine public school teachers is significant. These teachers were accused of being Communists and refused to say whether they were or not.

It is heartening to suppose the board of education speaks for the mass of public opinion in that area. Indeed, it is all but questionable that on a straight-forward issue involving the right of Communists to hold positions of influence in this country, citizens would reject them overwhelmingly.

The board of education had more to go on than mere accusations. It had a record of what these ousted pedagogues had been teaching.

Left wingers, and the scummy section of the press, are leaping to the defense of the teachers, charging their ouster is an invasion of academic freedom. This is the same old Communist party line which seeks to invoke protection of a country's laws while working underground to destroy the country and its institutions.

A capitalist teacher in Russia would be shot. A Communist teacher in America is told only to peddle his subversive theories elsewhere when caught at it.

Russia is engaged in training converts to burrow, sap and destroy every free country. Because self-survival is nature's first law, that activity cannot be dealt with passively. Communists must be kicked out of the teaching profession—whether in public schools or in colleges—and kept out.

VANISHING HORSE

EXCEPT ON the race tracks and at rodeos, horses are seldom seen today. They have ceased to be a part of the traffic picture of cities, and down on the farm he has been all but displaced by tractor and truck.

A story in the Chicago Tribune portrays the fate of the metropolitan horse. There are 168 horses in Chicago today, compared to 58,000 in 1908. All are used by junk men and vegetable peddlers.

The proprietor of a horse livery for this trade says he will soon close up because horses trained to city traffic are no longer available, and wagons are no longer made. Most of his wagons are 40 or more years old.

Some horse lovers have become alarmed lest some equinine breeds become extinct. Several breeds of horses now are being continued solely as a hobby by a few who can afford it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

A friend of mine said to me within recent days that everybody in this country knows all about Communism; that everybody has taken a side, pro or con; and that there is no need to get excited about it anymore.

On the contrary, I am convinced that it is the crucial issue of the 1952 campaign. Because of Communism, our sons are being killed in Korea; because of Communism, we have been put into a state of permanent war with attendant huge costs and constant confusions in our economy. Because of the infiltration of Communism into government and into our institutions of education, information and amusement, our people quarrel over issues not germane to our country.

Actually, few subjects are less understood and more sloganized. For instance, our people were shocked in 1945 when they discovered that Soviet Russia was not our ally but an enemy. Yet, by the Soviet blueprint, the guide to all Communist activities in every part of the world, the Russians had no alternative but to be our enemy. This should have been understood by Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta and by Truman at Potsdam. It was not.

Let me quote from the blueprint, "Foundations of Leninism," by J. Stalin, lectures delivered in 1924 and accepted by all Communists:

"—could the Russian Communists have confined their operations within the narrow national limits of the Russian revolution? Certainly not! On the contrary, the whole situation, internal (profound revolutionary crisis) and external (war) pushed them beyond these confines in their work, to transfer their struggles to the international arena, expose the ulcers of imperialism to full view, demonstrate the inevitable collapse of capitalism, defeat social-chauvinism and social-pacifism, and finally overthrow capitalism in their own country and forge a new weapon of struggle for the proletariat, the theory and tactics of the proletarian revolution, in order to lighten for the proletariat of all countries the task of overthrowing capitalism. The Russian Communists could not act otherwise, for this was the only path along which such changes in the international situation as would ensure Russia against the restoration of bourgeois order could be expected."

There it is, the doctrine of the world revolution, of infiltration into every country, of the overthrow of capitalism. Stalin affords his followers no alternative and makes possible no compromise. He opposes opportunism but insists upon revolution.

War he regards with joy, because in war he anticipates the downfall of what he calls the capitalistic, and what we currently call the free, world. In this blueprint, Stalin compares the period between the First International (Karl Marx's) and the Third International (Stalin's revolutionary agency). The Socialists during that period were mild men, like the Fabians in England or the Eugene V. Debs Socialists in America. Stalin says of this intermediate period:

New and Old Methods Combine To Help Fight Tuberculosis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NEWER drugs for tuberculosis have been breaking into the headlines, and have also created quite a stir among doctors.

These drugs have proved of real help against the disease, but have not turned out to be cure-alls for tuberculosis, as was first thought by some. We are still not ready to abandon other methods for treating tuberculosis.

The new drugs usually reduce fever and cough within three weeks, and X-rays usually show improvement within a short time.

In Special Cases Only

It has recently been shown however, that the tuberculosis germs become used to these drugs very rapidly and "learn to live" with them. This makes it important to use them only in special cases and in the proper amount. Too small a dose might easily destroy their effectiveness. For this reason they should be taken only under the careful direction of a physician, and only if other treatments are given at the same time.

There are a number of other treatments that are good. Not until they have proved ineffective in a special case should they be abandoned for the newer drugs. For example, streptomycin together with PAS (para-aminosalicylic acid) give us one of the most effective combinations for treating tuberculosis.

To Rest Lung

In many cases the newer drugs must also be used together with pneumothorax. This is a method of collapsing the lung temporarily in order to rest it. There are other surgical operations which may also be necessary along with these drugs.

It is important for everyone to learn that this serious disease can be whipped with a combination of new and older methods available today.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. S. B.: What causes astigmatism? Is there any way to cure it, or does one always have to wear glasses?

Answer: The actual cause of astigmatism is not known. It is due to an unevenness of the cornea, or that part of the eye that transmits light.

Usually, the best treatment for this condition is the fitting of proper glasses. As yet, there is no known cure for this disorder.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

NANCE turned down the bedcovers.

Eve took off her shoes. They made puddles on the floor. "I'm all right," she said, looking up. "Go away. Let me alone."

But her voice was thick, and she swayed as she raised her arms to unfasten her dress. Nance said quickly, "Let me help you."

Eve pushed her off. "I'm all right," she repeated. She moved unsteadily to the bed, and then, with a small moan, fell across it.

Nance undressed her and got her into bed. Her hands and feet were ice-cold. When Song Lee came with the hot-water bottles, Nance put them at Eve's feet. She went downstairs and mixed hot water and whisky and brought it up.

Eve's teeth knocked against the glass as she drank it. She sank back on the pillow. She said unexpectedly, "I am going to give Jeremy his freedom."

Nance straightened. She set the glass on the bedside table.

"Did you hear me?" Eve demanded querulously. "I'm going to—"

"Yes," Nance soothed. "Now don't talk, Eve. Try to sleep."

Eve closed her eyes. She was trembling violently. A chill, Nance thought. It could be serious, this close after her illness. She wished Jeremy would come.

Nance stayed in the room until she heard Jeremy come in. Then she went down.

He said, "Nance!" in surprise at seeing her here.

"Eve is ill," she explained. "I found her on the Oxford Street bridge. I don't know how long she had been walking around in the rain, Jeremy. Hours, probably. She was soaked, and chilled right through. I got her into bed."

"Thanks, Nance." He had shed his hat and raincoat while she talked, and now he started toward the stairs.

That weekend, Eve died.

A month after Eve's death, Jeremy left town. He had an indefinite leave of absence from the hospital. Eleanor told Nance. Song Lee had been discharged, and the house closed up.

No word from Jeremy until early April, and then Eleanor had a card postmarked in Canada. He was well, he said. He hoped they were, too. And that was all . . .

Then, at the end of the month, there was a telegram. Jeremy was coming home. Eleanor began to sing again about the house, and bought yarn and canvas for a new piece of needlepoint. Nance, spending long, busy hours in the attic studio, wondered many times what Jeremy's return would mean to her. Kit had said, Even if he is free, he may not want you. Yet there had been moments, voiceless but intelligible, when she had been sure that Jeremy still loved her.

He had been back in town several days before Nance saw him. Then, on the other side of the front door when she opened it one evening, Jeremy was there.

She simply looked at him, not speaking, not smiling. She said at last, "Come in, Jeremy," and moved aside so that he could enter.

But he did not come in. He said, "I thought you might like to go for a drive."

"Yes," Nance said. "Yes, I would." She put on a camel's hair coat, capewise, and went out to the car with him.

They drove to the lake. It was too early for the cottagers. The evergreens were dark, the birch and elm misty with new green, and there was the smell of snow still unmelted deep in the woods. Beside the road, at the lake where they parked, marigolds were a mass of polished yellow. In an hour, when the sun set, the flower cups would close, hoarding their gold for the daylight. A whippoorwill called its sad, repetitive complaint across the water.

They sat for a long time without talking. Then Jeremy said, "You know that I love you, Nance."

"Yes. I love you, too."

"I'm sorry, Nance." His tone was without color, emotionless. "I messed things up, didn't I?"

"Yes," she said.

"It makes me sick to think about it."

"Then don't. It's over." She asked, "It is, Jeremy, isn't it?"

"Then try to forget it, Jeremy."

"It's not that easy."

"She wasn't ever happy, Nance," he said. And then he told her Eve's story as she had told it to him.

She felt pity stirring through her. "She missed so much," she said once, wonderingly. "She wasn't ever young." And she knew suddenly why Eve had tried so hard to learn to skate and swim and ride, to play tennis and golf. Those were the things of normal childhood Eve never had had. She had tried to make up for those lost years . . . Nance felt a sting of tears. She had never thought that she would weep for Eve.

It was dusk, and they sat on.

"I've found a place in Canada," Jeremy told her. "A small town that needs a doctor. We'll go there, Nance. We'll start over, together."

She felt herself go a little taut. "Jeremy, what's wrong with starting over right here?"

"You know, Nance. I've failed."

"Because you didn't get the staff appointment!" she said indignantly.

"That, and the rest."

The rest, of course. The diminished practice, the impaired reputation. Jeremy could not easily minimize these, nor could Nance. But if he went away? Wouldn't the stigma of this failure be the shadow always pursuing him?

At length, she said slowly, carefully, "No, Jeremy. We won't go away. We'll stay and get back the things Eve took from us. We have to stay, because if we run away we're acknowledging that Eve has won—don't you see? There's always a place where the force for good has to make a stand against the force for evil—and this is where we have to make our stand, Jeremy, or we're lost." She took a deep breath. "We'll stay. Sam will run again for mayor, and he will be elected. And you . . . People will give you back their confidence, Jeremy. You'll rebuild your practice . . ."

"And oust Avery as chief of staff?"

"No." She spoke sadly. "That's a thing forever lost, isn't it?"

"The price of folly." His hands clenched on the steering wheel. "I can't expect to get off scot free."

His arms went around her for the first time, and Nance moved closer. "It's funny, Jeremy. I don't hate her. She never had any of the breaks, did she? Everything she got she had to take. I had everything given to me. A home, love, security. Suppose I'd never had any of those things? How do I know I mightn't have been like Eve?"

"No," he said. "You're honest, Nance."

"Oh, it's easy to be honest, and good, when there's no temptation to be anything else . . . Poor Eve. No, I don't hate her. I'm so terribly sorry for her."

His arm tightened around her. "All right, Nance," he said. "We'll stay here. If that's the way you want it."

"Don't you, too?"

"It won't be easy. You know that?"

"I know."

He shook his head at her, slowly, making it not a negative gesture but a token of gratefulness and wonder that she would be with him, loving him, all the long, hard way back. He said again, "No, it won't be easy. But . . . Yes, Nance. It's the way I want it, too."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Diplomatic analysis of Stalin's schemes as foreshadowed at the recent Communist congress in Moscow provide both good and bad news for the embattled democracies, especially the United States.

The conduct of the Red carnival has dispelled any belief that Stalin intends to relinquish control of the party or government, although he is expected to advance Malenkov as the top Communist politician and Molotov as the potential heir in the Kremlin.

It is significant that there has been no mention in the Soviet press about Anglo-American speculation on a possible successor. In Russia, editors don't dare to speculate on this subject.

• • •

STALIN BOSS—Stalin remains as boss, visibly or invisibly. His sinister ambitions for worldwide expansion of Russia's totalitarian and authoritarian system stand as the permanent marching orders for Communists everywhere. Always an opportunist, he will wait upon circumstances to determine whether he shall seek to achieve his goal by continued cold wars or by an actual attack on the West.

Regardless of which avenue toward world domination he chooses, he looks upon the United States as the only obstacle in his parade. So long as his World War II ally and benefactor stands as a stronghold and inspiration of the so-called democracies, he knows that he cannot achieve the Lenin-Marx-Stalin dream.

That is the bad news as such students of Russia as excommunicated Ambassador George F. Kennan and Secretary Acheson review Russia's latest demonstration of her aims.

• • •

WAR IN RUSSIA—It is the details of Stalin's program for destruction of the United States and world conquest which encourage western experts to believe that he is talking through his hat, as he has frequently done before. They attribute his optimism to the fact that he wants to prepare his people for further hardships and sacrifices.

Stalin minimizes another global conflict involving the Russians because, in his opinion, the capitalistic powers will fall to fighting among themselves. He maintains that defeated Germany and Japan will eventually try to throw off the American yoke. In fact, he invites them to make the effort.

The dictator's dreams on this question may fool the Russians, but they do not disturb the State Department or 10 Downing Street. Stalin is the last man to want a strong and rearmed Germany and Japan on his borders. And the fear of the Reds in Western Germany and Japan is counted on to keep them on our side.

• • •

SPECULATION — Stalin also engaged in another absurd speculation. Continuing his attempt to drive a wedge between ourselves and our European allies, he envisages the day when Britain and France may side with him as against the U. S.

It is true that London and Paris are irked by their dependence on us. But their hope is to form a third power composed of Marshall Plan countries, vis a vis the United States and Russia. There is no fear along Pennsylvania Avenue that such a European regrouping would ever seek friendship with or membership in the iron curtain brigade.

• • •

TALK TOUGH—An especially astute diplomatic reporter likened the Moscow gathering to the national conventions of our major political parties. Each damns the opposition's record, and promises Utopia if the "rascals" are thrown out. Their talk, of course, is for the voters' consumption.

Since there is no opposition in Russia, Stalin attacked the United States. And, like the orators at Chicago, the Politburo's spokesmen had their eyes and tongues on the Sovietwide people rather than the 1,300 delegates in the palace of the czars.

Unlike the politicians' promises at Chicago, Stalin and his boys had to talk tough to their people. It is the content of these speeches which seem to prove that Russia is not ready for war, and will not be for many years. They give warning that living conditions, already harsh, will become worse rather than better.

• • •

OPPOSITION—Russia is suffering from our economic and military pressure, according to this analysis, and will be pinched even more severely henceforth.

The Communists have not been able to conquer or infiltrate as they had expected because of Western opposition. The economic blockade deprives the Soviet of productive machinery and consumers' goods. The new five-year plan will prevent any approach to decent living standards. Meanwhile, the West is growing stronger every day in anticipation of a showdown on the battlefield.

In other words, Stalin has as many troubles as Harry S. Truman, probably more!

The president of the bank, duly impressed, asked her where she had gotten the money. "I'll tell you if you promise not to repeat it to my husband," she proposed. "He has an incurable mania for playing the horses. Finally one day I told him I'd place the bets for him. Instead, I took them myself. When his horse won, I paid him at the announced odds. When he lost, I put the money under my mattress. Now I'll trouble you to hand over that $5000 bond!"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. S. B.: What causes astigmatism? Is there any way to cure it, or does one always have to wear glasses?

Answer: The actual cause of astigmatism is not known. It is due to an unevenness of the cornea, or that part of the eye that transmits light.

Usually, the best treatment for this condition is the fitting of proper glasses. As yet, there is no known cure for this disorder.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

NANCE turned down the bedcovers.

Eve took off her shoes. They made puddles on the floor. "I'm all right," she said, looking up. "Go away. Let me alone."

But her voice was thick, and she swayed as she raised her arms to unfasten her dress. Nance said quickly, "Let me help you."

Eve pushed her off. "I'm all right," she repeated. She moved unsteadily to the bed, and then, with a small moan, fell across it.

Nance undressed her and got her into bed. Her hands and feet were ice-cold. When Song Lee came with the hot-water bottles, Nance put them at Eve's feet. She went downstairs and mixed hot water and whisky and brought it up.

Eve's teeth knocked against the glass as she drank it. She sank back on the pillow. She said unexpectedly, "I am going to give Jeremy his freedom."

Nance straightened. She set the glass on the bedside table.

"Did you hear me?" Eve demanded querulously. "I'm going to—"

"Yes," Nance soothed. "Now don't talk, Eve. Try to sleep."

Eve closed her eyes. She was trembling violently. A chill, Nance thought. It could be serious, this close after her illness. She wished Jeremy would come.

Nance stayed in the room until she heard Jeremy come in. Then she went down.

He said, "Nance!" in surprise at seeing her here.

"Eve is ill," she explained. "I found her on the Oxford Street bridge. I don't know how long she had been walking around in the rain, Jeremy. Hours, probably. She was soaked, and chilled right through. I got her into bed."

"Thanks, Nance." He had shed his hat and raincoat while she talked, and now he started toward the stairs.

That weekend, Eve died.

A month after Eve's death, Jeremy left town. He had an indefinite leave of absence from the hospital, Eleanor told Nance. Song Lee had been discharged, and the house closed up.

No word from Jeremy until early April, and then Eleanor had a card postmarked in Canada. He was well, he said. He hoped they were, too. And that was all . . .

Then, at the end of the month, there was a telegram. Jeremy was coming home. Eleanor began to sing again about the house, and bought yarn and canvas for a new piece of needlepoint. Nance, spending long, busy hours in the attic studio, wondered many times what Jeremy's return would mean to her. Kit had said, Even if he is free, he may not want you. Yet there had been moments, voiceless but intelligible, when she had been sure that Jeremy still loved her.

He had been back in town several days before Nance saw him. Then, on the other side of the front door when she opened it one evening, Jeremy was there.

She simply looked at him, not speaking, not smiling. She said at last, "Come in, Jeremy," and moved aside so that he could enter.

But he did not come in. He said, "I thought you might like to go for a drive."

"Yes," Nance said. "Yes, I would." She put on a camel's hair coat, capewise, and went out to the car with him.

They drove to the lake. It was too early for the cottagers. The evergreens were dark, the birch and elm misty with new green, and there was the smell of snow still unmelted deep in the woods. Beside the road at the lake where they parked, marigolds were a mass of polished yellow. In an hour, when the sun set, the flower cups would close, hoarding their gold for the daylight. A whippoorwill called its sad, repetitive complaint across the water.

They sat for a long time without talking. Then Jeremy said, "You know that I love you, Nance."

"Yes. I love you, too."

"I'm sorry, Nance." His tone was without color, emotionless. "I messed things up, didn't I?"

"Yes," she said.

"It makes me sick to think about it."

"Then don't. It's over." She asked, "It is, Jeremy, isn't it?"

"Then try to forget it, Jeremy."

"She wasn't ever happy, Nance," he said. And then he told her Eve's story as she had told it to him.

She felt pity stirring through her. "She missed so much," she said once, wonderingly. "She wasn't ever young." And she knew suddenly why Eve had tried so hard to learn to skate and swim and ride, to play tennis and golf. Those were the things of normal childhood Eve never had had. She had tried to make up for those lost years . . . Nance felt a sting of tears. She had never thought that she would weep for Eve.

It was dusk, and they sat on.

"I've found a place in Canada," Jeremy told her. "A small town that needs a doctor. We'll go there, Nance. We'll start over, together."

She felt herself go a little taut. "Jeremy, what's wrong with starting over right here?"

"You know, Nance. I've failed."

"Because you didn't get the staff appointment!" she said indignantly.

"That, and the rest."

The rest, of course. The diminished practice, the impaired reputation. Jeremy could not easily minimize these, nor could Nance. But if he went away? Wouldn't the stigma of this failure be the shadow always pursuing him?

At length, she said slowly, carefully, "No, Jeremy. We won't go away. We'll stay and get back the things Eve took from us. We have to stay, because if we run away we're acknowledging that Eve has won—don't you see? There's always a place where the force for good has to make a stand against the force for evil—and this is where we have to make our stand, Jeremy, or we're lost." She took a deep breath. "We'll stay. Sam will run again for mayor, and he will be elected. And you . . . People will give you back their confidence, Jeremy. You'll rebuild your practice . . ."

"And oust Avery as chief of staff?"

"No." She spoke sadly. "That's a thing forever lost, isn't it?"

"The price of folly." His hands clenched on the steering wheel. "I can't expect to get off scot free."

His arms went around her for the first time, and Nance moved closer. "It's funny, Jeremy. I don't hate her. She never had any of the breaks, did she? Everything she got she had to take. I had everything given to me. A home, love, security. Suppose I'd never had any of those things? How do I know I mightn't have been like Eve?"

"No," he said. "You're honest, Nance."

"Oh, it's easy to be honest, and good, when there's no temptation to be anything else . . . Poor Eve. No, I don't hate her. I'm so terribly sorry for her."

His arm tightened around her. "All right, Nance," he said. "We'll stay here. If that's the way you want it."

"Don't you, too?"

"It won't be easy. You know that?"

"I know."

He shook his head at her, slowly, making it not a negative gesture but a token of gratefulness and wonder that she would be with him, loving him, all the long, hard way back. He said again, "No, it won't be easy. But . . . Yes, Nance. It's the way I want it, too."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Diplomatic analysis of Stalin's schemes as foreshadowed at the recent Communist congress in Moscow provide both good and bad news for the embattled democracies, especially the United States.

The conduct of the Red carnival has dispelled any belief that Stalin intends to relinquish control of the party or government, although he is expected to advance Malenkov as the top Communist politician and Molotov as the potential heir in the Kremlin.

It is significant that there has been no mention in the Soviet press about Anglo-American speculation on a possible successor. In Russia, editors don't dare to speculate on this subject.

* * *

STALIN BOSS—Stalin remains as boss, visibly or invisibly. His sinister ambitions for worldwide expansion of Russia's totalitarian and authoritarian system stand as the permanent marching orders for Communists everywhere. Always an opportunist, he will wait upon circumstances to determine whether he shall seek to achieve his goal by continued cold wars or by an actual attack on the West.

Regardless of which avenue toward world domination he chooses, he looks upon the United States as the only obstacle in his parade. So long as his World War II ally and benefactor stands as a stronghold and inspiration of the so-called democracies, he knows that he cannot achieve the Lenin-Marx-Stalin dream.

That is the bad news as such students of Russia as excommunicated Ambassador George F. Kennan and Secretary Acheson review Russia's latest demonstration of her aims.

* * *

WAR IN RUSSIA—It is the details of Stalin's program for destruction of the United States and world conquest which encourage western experts to believe that he is talking through his hat, as he has frequently done before. They attribute his optimism to the fact that he wants to prepare his people for further hardships and sacrifices.

Stalin minimizes another global conflict involving the Russians because, in his opinion, the capitalistic powers will fall to fighting among themselves. He maintains that defeated Germany and Japan will eventually try to throw off the American yoke. In fact, he invites them to make the effort.

The dictator's dreams on this question may fool the Russians, but they do not disturb the State Department or 10 Downing Street. Stalin is the last man to want a strong and rearmed Germany and Japan on his borders. And the fear of the Reds in Western Germany and Japan is counted on to keep them on our side.

* * *

SPECULATION — Stalin also engaged in another absurd speculation. Continuing his attempt to drive a wedge between ourselves and our European allies, he envisages the day when Britain and France may side with him as against the U. S.

It is true that London and Paris are irked by their dependence on us. But their hope is to form a third power composed of Marshall Plan countries, vis a vis the United States and Russia. There is no fear along Pennsylvania Avenue that such a European regrouping would ever seek friendship with or membership in the iron curtain brigade.

* * *

TALK TOUGH—An especially astute diplomatic reporter likened the Moscow gathering to the national conventions of our major political parties. Each damns the opposition's record, and promises Utopia if the "rascals" are thrown out. Their talk, of course, is for the voters' consumption.

Since there is no opposition in Russia, Stalin attacked the United States. And, like the orators at Chicago, the Politburo's spokesmen had their eyes and tongues on the Sovietwide people rather than the 1,300 delegates in the palace of the czars.

Unlike the politicians' promises at Chicago, Stalin and his boys had to talk tough to their people. It is the content of these speeches which seem to prove that Russia is not ready for war, and will not be for many years. They give warning that living conditions, already harsh, will become worse rather than better.

* * *

OPPOSITION—Russia is suffering from our economic and military pressure, according to this analysis, and will be pinched even more severely henceforth.

The Communists have not been able to conquer or infiltrate as they had expected because of Western opposition. The economic blockade deprives the Soviet of productive machinery and consumers' goods. The new five-year plan will prevent any approach to decent living standards. Meanwhile, the West is growing stronger every day in anticipation of a showdown on the battlefield.

In other words, Stalin has as many troubles as Harry S. Truman, probably more!

Daffodils Are Discussed At Garden Club Meeting

Dr., Mrs. Lindsey Guest Speakers

Mrs. Arthur Ward Lindsey of Granville and Dr. Lindsey, head of the biology department at Denison university, spoke and showed slides on daffodils at the meeting of the Circleville Garden Club, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Lindsey said the daffodil is a very ancient flower, and was first hybridized in England around 1800.

She continued that daffodils should be planted in the Fall and they are an informal flower and should not be planted in rows, but rather in a woods or in clumps. She also said that they are useful as a perennial border and most showy planted with evergreens for contrast.

Mrs. Lindsey said that an economical way to have many daffodils is to plant any of the old varieties and also to plant a row in the vegetable garden for cutting.

They require little care and will bloom after many years without special care in a loose, well drained soil. She continued that a sloping lawn is fine as good drainage has already been established.

She said that daffodils do not require fertilizer, but crop rotation is advisable if space permits. If not, some fertilizer is advisable and growers should use bone meal with wood ashes added, or a top dressing of well rotted manure.

Mrs. Lindsey said that the tiny rock garden daffodils are becoming very popular and a pink daffodil has also been developed.

She also spoke on classifications of daffodils and said that several of the older varieties can be planted and will produce flowers year after year, while the hybrid varieties require more care.

Mrs. Donald Watt was hostess to the group in her home on North Court street.

At the beginning of the meeting, Probate Judge George Young, explained the city charter form of government to the members.

Mrs. George Ritt and Mrs. George Myers were chosen to head groups of members in a flower contest to be conducted throughout the year.

Plans were made for a tea to be held at the November meeting.

Pumpkin Cake Recipe Is Given By Mrs. Sharpe

Mrs. Lewis Sharpe, who won first prize in last year's Pumpkin Show, with her pumpkin cake has a very fine recipe which has been secured for use in the Herald.

Mrs. Sharpe is well known for her fine cakes.

Her recipe is: Cream together 1 cup granulated sugar, ½ cup light brown sugar and ½ cup shortening.

Measure into sifter, 2 cups sifted flour, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. cloves and 1 tsp. soda.

Add to creamed mixture: 1 slightly beaten egg and 1 cup canned pumpkin. Add ¾ cup homogenized milk alternately with flour and spice mixture to the creamed mixture.

When well blended, pour batter into two well greased and floured 8 inch cake pans and bake in a 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

Mrs. Sharpe said that the cake is delicious with carmel icing or to use seven minute icing tinted a light yellow.

Calvary Women's Society Holds October Meeting

October meeting of Calvary Women's Society of World Service was held in the Sunday school annex Tuesday evening with Mrs. James Herbst and Jennie Dean as hostesses.

President, Mrs. Hosler called the meeting to order and prayer was given by Mrs. Lawrence Warner.

Mrs. Ray Anderson, chairman of social relations, reported that her committee had packed and sent six boxes of clothing and school supplies, with two each going to Japan, Germany and Hong Kong, and that they had two more boxes to prepare.

President announced that November was the Thank Offering Meeting and asked each to observe this month. The institute, which is to be held in Newark on Oct. 21, was discussed and all members were urged to attend.

President then read a poem, "Do You Just Belong." One new member was received into the society, Mrs. Ed McCann, who recently moved to Circleville.

Mrs. Bertha Martin had charge of the devotions with program as follows: Group singing, "My Country Tis of Thee," followed by scripture by Mrs. Manley Carothers and prayer by Mrs. Andrew Goeller. Theme for the evening was, "Christ Calls to Stewardship —therefore We have Concern for Human Rights." A short discussion on 30 human rights was given by Jennie Dean, Mrs. Lawrence Warner, Mrs. Ed Bost, Minnie Lumpe and Dorothy Glick.

Mrs. George Gerhardt was guest speaker for the evening and her talk was entitled, "What Kind of a Community do You live In?" She gave an outline of a survey, which she had taken from the industrial plants in Circleville, whether Circleville observed the fair employment practices, the child labor law; the minimum wage law; and civil rights. She summarized her outline by closing that all these human rights may be and can be observed by living and applying the Golden Rule in our lives.

Group singing of, "A Charge to Keep I Have," closed the meeting.

Mrs. Manley Carothers had charge of the social program and conducted a question and answer quiz with awards going to Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood Jr., and Mrs. Harry Hosler.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to 14 members and three guests, Mrs. Kirkwood, Mrs. Gerhardt and Miss Dorothy Glick.

Thanks for the Touchdown!

In a football game the pass play had been rehearsed to perfection, the receiver knew just which way to go, the quarterback knew just where to throw the ball . . . touchdown! But, if the receiver is covered too well and the quarterback has no where to throw the ball . . . all he can do with the ball is eat it. . .

This was our feeling when we announced our rug sale last Thursday. We were in the quarterback's position . . . We knew we had the merchandise, we knew the prices were more than right and you the customer, would either catch the ball for a touchdown or we would have to eat it. . . . .

Thank you for helping us score a touchdown.

Daffodils Are Discussed At Garden Club Meeting

Dr., Mrs. Lindsey Guest Speakers

Mrs. Arthur Ward Lindsey of Granville and Dr. Lindsey, head of the biology department at Denison university, spoke and showed slides on daffodils at the meeting of the Circleville Garden Club, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Lindsey said the daffodil is a very ancient flower, and was first hybridized in England around 1800.

She continued that daffodils should be planted in the Fall and they are an informal flower and should not be planted in rows, but rather in a woods or in clumps. She also said that they are useful as a perennial border and most showy planted with evergreens for contrast.

Mrs. Lindsey said that an economical way to have many daffodils is to plant any of the old varieties and also to plant a row in the vegetable garden for cutting.

They require little care and will bloom after many years without special care in a loose, well drained soil. She continued that a sloping lawn is fine as good drainage has already been established.

She said that daffodils do not require fertilizer, but crop rotation is advisable if space permits. If not, some fertilizer is advisable and growers should use bone meal with wood ashes added, or a top dressing of well rotted manure.

Mrs. Lindsey said that the tiny rock garden daffodils are becoming very popular and a pink daffodil has also been developed.

She also spoke on classifications of daffodils and said that several of the older varieties can be planted and will produce flowers year after year, while the hybrid varieties require more care.

Mrs. Donald Watt was hostess to the group in her home on North Court street.

At the beginning of the meeting, Probate Judge George Young, explained the city charter form of government to the members.

Mrs. George Ritt and Mrs. George Myers were chosen to head groups of members in a flower contest to be conducted throughout the year.

Plans were made for a tea to be held at the November meeting.

Pumpkin Cake Recipe Is Given By Mrs. Sharpe

Mrs. Lewis Sharpe, who won first prize in last year's Pumpkin Show, with her pumpkin cake has a very fine recipe which has been secured for use in the Herald.

Mrs. Sharpe is well known for her fine cakes.

Her recipe is: Cream together 1 cup granulated sugar, ½ cup light brown sugar and ½ cup shortening.

Measure into sifter, 2 cups sifted flour, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. cloves and 1 tsp. soda.

Add to creamed mixture: 1 slightly beaten egg and 1 cup canned pumpkin. Add ¾ cup homogenized milk alternately with flour and spice mixture to the creamed mixture.

When well blended, pour batter into two well greased and floured 8 inch cake pans and bake in a 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

Mrs. Sharpe said that the cake is delicious with carmel icing or to use seven minute icing tinted a light yellow.

Calvary Women's Society Holds October Meeting

October meeting of Calvary Women's Society of World Service was held in the Sunday school annex Tuesday evening with Mrs. James Herbst and Jennie Dean as hostesses.

President, Mrs. Hosler called the meeting to order and prayer was given by Mrs. Lawrence Warner.

Mrs. Ray Anderson, chairman of social relations, reported that her committee had packed and sent six boxes of clothing and school supplies, with two each going to Japan, Germany and Hong Kong, and that they had two more boxes to prepare.

President announced that November was the Thank Offering Meeting and asked each to observe this month. The institute, which is to be held in Newark on Oct. 21, was discussed and all members were urged to attend.

President then read a poem, "Do You Just Belong." One new member was received into the society, Mrs. Ed McCann, who recently moved to Circleville.

Mrs. Bertha Martin had charge of the devotions with program as follows: Group singing, "My Country Tis of Thee," followed by scripture by Mrs. Manley Carothers and prayer by Mrs. Andrew Goeller. Theme for the evening was, "Christ Calls to Stewardship —therefore We have Concern for Human Rights." A short discussion on 30 human rights was given by Jennie Dean, Mrs. Lawrence Warner, Mrs. Ed Bost, Minnie Lumpe and Dorothy Glick.

Mrs. George Gerhardt was guest speaker for the evening and her talk was entitled, "What Kind of a Community do You live In?" She gave an outline of a survey, which she had taken from the industrial plants in Circleville, whether Circleville observed the fair employment practices, the child labor law; the minimum wage law; and civil rights. She summarized her outline by closing that all these human rights may be and can be observed by living and applying the Golden Rule in our lives.

Group singing of, "A Charge to Keep I Have," closed the meeting.

Mrs. Manley Carothers had charge of the social program and conducted a question and answer quiz with awards going to Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood Jr., and Mrs. Harry Hosler.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to 14 members and three guests, Mrs. Kirkwood, Mrs. Gerhardt and Miss Dorothy Glick.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President

None of the political candidates now bidding for votes has, to my knowledge, used the most powerful appeal—the promise of a living standard for everyone twice as high as today's.

It isn't something government can do for us, but it definitely is something the private enterprise system can achieve in a nation having the right kind of governmental leadership — wise and courageous management of government under sound governmental policies.

People have a normal longing for prosperity and plenty. It is basic—fundamental—in human nature. Thus the promise of a better life is powerful.

In the American system the key to prosperity is production. There are two kinds of production — production for war and production for normal peaceful use.

Beginning in 1938, when Hitler's Germany made its first warring moves, our nation began to build up a war production prosperity.

Most of us can remember that in 1938 the depression that had begun in 1930 had been only slightly relieved in spite of extreme measures taken by government. In fact, in 1938 we still had 10 million people unemployed.

IN 1938, even with its huge expenditures on depression projects, the Federal government spent only $6.9 billion. But late that year Hitler's aims became clearly evident.

Our military spending leaped upwards. In 1939 the government spent $8.9 billion; in 1940, $9.2 billion. Then, with Hitler on the rampage in Europe, we went all out. War production and spending rose to the greatest height in history.

The government spent $13 billion in 1941, $34 billion in 1942, $79 billion in 1943, $95 billion in 1944, $98 billion in 1945, and $60 billion in 1946.

Everybody got more dollars. We had a war prosperity. But our nation was paying a ghastly price in human lives and resources.

Our battle casualties reached the awful total of 948,574—which means an average of 20,000 casualties from each of our 48 states. And the war swiftly stripped us of a tremendous amount of our natural resources.

Nowhere was this more strikingly demonstrated than in Arkansas where a 25-35 year supply of aluminum ore was clawed out of the earth in a period of months.

The World War II spending had hardly subsided when American soldiers found themselves fighting another frightful war—this one in Korea.

And to the amazement of most American citizens, our government disclosed that our great stores of World War II armaments had been wasted away. Our men fought for months in Korea before renewed war production could supply them with sufficient weapons.

Now we're back up to an $80 billion Federal budget with most of the billions going for war material.

We have great volumes of dollars in circulation and most people have more of them then before Korea, but the dollar's purchasing power is constantly dropping and the latest casualty report from Korea shows that 120,000 American men have been maimed or killed.

• • •

OBVIOUSLY a war production prosperity is not desirable. So the most powerful political appeal that a candidate could make would be the presentation of a logical program for transforming the war "prosperity"—which isn't really prosperity at all—to a sound peacetime prosperity that will continue to improve everybody's living standard.

Some may feel that only a miracle could accomplish this. Actually, intelligent and courageous leadership could go a long way toward accomplishing it.

Two key requirements would be necessary: (1) the relieving of the immediate threat of all-out war with Russia; and (2) the restoration of the healthy production incentive that has made America the richest and most powerful nation on earth in a comparatively short time, and her people the best clothed, fed, housed and educated.

In short, if we would whittle government and taxes down to their proper size, give the proven American enterprise system an open field for productive expansion, and establish a common-sense policy for coping with the Communist menace, at home and abroad, our future would be far more secure and far brighter than we find it now when we examine all the factors in our present war production "prosperity."

Yes, top flight leadership in American government could influence the opening of a great new era of progress and guide the world toward the lofty Christian goal of world peace.

IN 1938, even with its huge expenditures on depression projects, the Federal government spent only $6.9 billion. But late that year Hitler's aims became clearly evident.

Our military spending leaped upwards. In 1939 the government spent $8.9 billion; in 1940, $9.2 billion. Then, with Hitler on the rampage in Europe, we went all out. War production and spending rose to the greatest height in history.

The government spent $13 billion in 1941, $34 billion in 1942, $79 billion in 1943, $95 billion in 1944, $98 billion in 1945, and $60 billion in 1946.

Everybody got more dollars. We had a war prosperity. But our nation was paying a ghastly price in human lives and resources.

Our battle casualties reached the awful total of 948,574—which means an average of 20,000 casualties from each of our 48 states. And the war swiftly stripped us of a tremendous amount of our natural resources.

Nowhere was this more strikingly demonstrated than in Arkansas where a 25-35 year supply of aluminum ore was clawed out of the earth in a period of months.

The World War II spending had hardly subsided when American soldiers found themselves fighting another frightful war—this one in Korea.

And to the amazement of most American citizens, our government disclosed that our great stores of World War II armaments had been wasted away. Our men fought for months in Korea before renewed war production could supply them with sufficient weapons.

Now we're back up to an $80 billion Federal budget with most of the billions going for war material.

We have great volumes of dollars in circulation and most people have more of them then before Korea, but the dollar's purchasing power is constantly dropping and the latest casualty report from Korea shows that 120,000 American men have been maimed or killed.

* * *

OBVIOUSLY a war production prosperity is not desirable. So the most powerful political appeal that a candidate could make would be the presentation of a logical program for transforming the war "prosperity"—which isn't really prosperity at all—to a sound peacetime prosperity that will continue to improve everybody's living standard.

Some may feel that only a miracle could accomplish this. Actually, intelligent and courageous leadership could go a long way toward accomplishing it.

Two key requirements would be necessary: (1) the relieving of the immediate threat of all-out war with Russia; and (2) the restoration of the healthy production incentive that has made America the richest and most powerful nation on earth in a comparatively short time, and her people the best clothed, fed, housed and educated.

In short, if we would whittle government and taxes down to their proper size, give the proven American enterprise system an open field for productive expansion, and establish a common-sense policy for coping with the Communist menace, at home and abroad, our future would be far more secure and far brighter than we find it now when we examine all the factors in our present war production "prosperity."

Yes, top flight leadership in American government could influence the opening of a great new era of progress and guide the world toward the lofty Christian goal of world peace.

Bubble Gum Business Booming; Sticky Cud Often Is Currency

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—A 10-year-old girl in a New Jersey amusement park recently took a piece of gum and airily blew it into a bubble 20 inches in diameter.

"We had always thought a 17-inch bubble was about the limit," he said.

There was a trace of envy in his voice as he recounted the young girl's feat, a real landmark in the history of bubble gum.

"Personally, I'm not a very good bubble blower myself," Hutson admitted wistfully. "I'm handicapped by false teeth. Kids don't have that problem."

The irony in Hutson's case arises from the fact he is president of a Philadelphia firm that turns out two billion pieces of "Dubble Bubble" gum a year. He estimates this is about half of America's annual output.

In less than 25 years this business built on a bubble has grown into a still mushrooming $40 million industry. Bubble gum has followed the American flag, and is now popular around the globe. Eskimo children even prefer it to blubber.

Hutson's product has been banned in Iron Curtain countries because the wrapper of each piece of gum contains a printed U. S. historical fact and a comic strip about a typical American family.

"The Russians banned it two years ago because the comic strip made the American way of life too happy," he said.

The U. S. Army buys 20 million pieces a year, and troops overseas have used it to plug oil leaks in bombers or to keep rain out of their rifles. They sometimes found it better than money in Korea to hire kids to clean their barracks or run errands.

"We have heard of many instances where it has been used as currency," said Hutson. "Some headhunters in Borneo captured a minor British diplomatic official and released him only after a ransom of 2,400 pieces of bubble gum was paid.

"And in Africa we had a report that a man bought a wife for a case of bubble gum instead of the usual price—two or three oxen and a half dozen sheep."

Bubble gum formerly was made from pointianak, a gum tapped from a Borneo tree. When this source dried up during the last war, the industry developed a plastic base, and this is still used.

Hutson employs 21 persons, including three chemists, who do nothing but test and blow bubble gum. He is proud that, although he is a poor blower himself, he was able in his laboratory to stretch an inch square piece of gum large enough to cover an 8-by-10-foot rug.

"It was rather frightening," he said. "We didn't know what to do with it."

Many a mother with a gum-chewing small son, however, would hardly regard that as a record.

Hutson sees no bust ahead in the boom in the world's largest penny confectionery. Adults buy only six percent of the bubble gum output, the kids buy the rest themselves.

"Our market is the children from 5 to 15—and there are 28 million in America alone," said Hutson, and added dreamily:

Hutson is violently opposed to marketing bubble gum on a health basis or on the grounds it provides needed exercise for growing mouths.

"The day they start putting chlorophyll in it I retire," he said. "We never claim bubble gum is good for kids. It is just one of the few things left that can give them harmless fun for a penny."

Weekly Food Review

By Associated Press

Retail egg prices turned downward this week in many stores after running into consumer price resistance. And the majority of fresh vegetables edged higher as supplies from nearby growing areas decreased seasonally.

Otherwise, changes in food prices were too slight and scattered to make much difference in the family food budget. Reductions in meat prices were largely confined to "shopping specials" trimmed to attract customers. These featured items showed an unusually wide variety.

Higher priced on most produce counters this week were a long list of fresh vegetables including snap and lima beans, cabbage, celery, eggplant, onions, squash, sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Lower were carrots, cucumbers and lettuce. Bargain vegetables in many markets included cabbage, cucumbers, peppers and spinach. Citrus fruits were generally a little lower.

Appearing most frequently on the lists of shopping specials for the rest of this week were chicken fryers, roasters and stewing hens, hams and fresh pork Boston butts, legs of lamb, lamb chops, round steak, round pot roasts, and several types of fresh and frozen fish.

The Agricultural Department stressed raisins and cauliflower as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week.

All pies must be accompanied by pumpkin can label plus Crustquick label. The Stir-n-Roll method entries must be accompanied by the Betty Crocker picture from receipt insert of Gold Medal Flour, (only one for all pies) Wesson Oil label and Pumpkin can labei for each pie.

All pies entered will be baked in a standard 9-inch pie plate or tin and submitted before 12 o'clock noon each day at Lutheran Parish House for that days judging. Judging will be made daily at 12 noon.

All pies become the property of Pumpkin Show, Inc.

The four daily prize winners will submit pies made with the same ingredients as the pies with which they won the daily prize.

BETTY CROCKER STIR-N-ROLL METHOD PIE CRUST

Preheat Oven to 425 degrees.
1. Mix together 1 1-3 cups SIFTED GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour
tsp. salt
Pour into one measuring cup
BUT DON'T STIR TOGETHER . . . 1-3 cup Wesson Oil and . . . . 3 tbsp. cold whole milk
Then pour all at once into flour.
2. Stir until mixed. Press with hands into smooth ball. Flatten slightly.
3. Place between 2 sheets of waxed paper (12-in. square). Roll out gently until circle reaches edge of paper. (Waxed paper will not slip while rolling pastry, if table top under paper is slightly damp.)
Peel off top paper. If dough tears, mend without moistening by pressing edges together . . or by pressing a scrap of pastry lightly over tear.
4. Lift paper and pastry by top corners; they will cling together. Place (paper side up) in 9-in. pie pan. Carefully peel off paper. Gently ease and fit pastry into pan. Build up fluted edge.

CRUST QUICK METHOD PIE CRUST

Make.....Crustquick Pastry for 9-in. One-Crust Pie
Beat together with rotary beater.....
1⅓ cups mashed cooked pumpkin (½ of no. 2½ can)
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups undiluted evaporated milk
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1¼ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ginger
½ tsp. nutmeg

Pour into pastry-lined pie plate. (For well-browned undercrust, use ovenglass or dark tin pie plate). Bake 45 to 50 min. in hot oven (425°), or until a silver knife inserted into side of filling comes out clean. Center is soft but will "set" later. Serve slightly warm or cold and garnished with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

If you have read this column over a period of time, you are aware of my emphasis on the need of teaching the child from the time he begins to walk the unambiguous meaning of NO (rarely heard).

You also know that I entreat young parents to avoid making positive comments to the little child under four or five, and to make these only infrequently thereafter.

I have explained that when you command the little child, except in routines (which really are not commands), to perform some act such as closing the door, bringing you an object or picking up one from the floor, and he hesitates or refuses to obey this command, you must punish him or render your command futile.

But punishment tend sto make this act you want him to perform unpleasant, painful, repellent, rendering him less ready, therefore, to do it.

How different this is from giving him pain in connection with an act you wish him never to repeat. As you can see, one sharp slap on his bare hand or thigh might cause him not to throw the block at the window again, while beating him brutally many times might not make him pick up the block if he chose not to pick it up.

• • •

ON THE OTHER hand, a quiet, persuasive request that he pick up the block might win him to do so, and thus help lay the foundation for his further cooperation as well.

But if he should choose not to pick up the block after you had requested him to do so, you would have no occasion to punish him. You had not commanded and he had not disobeyed. You merely requested. Don't make positive commands of the very young child. Make positive suggestions instead.

Th time comes, however, when it is desirable to utter an occasional command for very practical reasons.

That is, when the child, say after four or five years of age, has had enough experience to profit from punishment on failing to obey a positive command. Even then such commands should be used sparingly.

Of one thing I am very sure: When you make a request you should treat it literally as a requestand not as a command.

Therefore, if you ask a child of any age to do something, you should let him choose whether to accede or not to this request. You should not shift to a command and say "You must."

Any parent who will check himself on the requests he has made of a child six, eight or fourteen in the last few weeks, will discover how hypocritical some of these requests have been. In the meanwhile, the child himself has been aware of the hypocrisy.

There are times, of course, when you will know better than to make a request, when you will know the child would not accede in spite of your persuasiveness.

• • •

YOU WOULD be foolish to make the request then. You would command instead. You would if you were pretty sure you could cause him to obey this time or the next. Otherwise it would be better to make neither a request nor a command.

We should hope to be so wise in choosing when to request or command that the child will have good practice at acceding to our requests and obeying our commands.

Q. Our son, five, tells the wildest yarns sometimes. Won't he become an awful liar?

A. He won't if you have a good imagination, appreciate his creative yarns, and never charge him with lying when he feels sure he had never been nearer to the truth.

Q. If, as you advise, a parent does not help a child do his homework in arithmetic which is far too hard for him, won't you lead him to ignore the wishes of his teacher?

A. Not if you make clear to him and to the teacher the good ways you have now to help him to be able to do such homework successfully later.

Everyone Sheds Tear On Finances

HOMETOWN, U. S. A.— (AP) — Wilbur Peeble, America's average citizen, joined a group reading a notice his boss had just pinned to the office bulletin board.

The notice said:

"To all employes:

"The management has been asked whether it plans to start a gift fund to retain high caliber employes who have been offered government jobs at three times their present salary. We don't.

"The management also announces that if the employes wish to start a private fund to help the firm meet its expenses their contributions will be gratefully accepted.

Signed

The Boss

Wilbur shook his head. Later in the morning he sneaked downstairs to get a haircut on company time.

"What is this, Tony?" asked Wilbur.

"My profit-and-loss statement for the last 20 years," replied Tony.

"What do I care about that?" said Wilbur.

"I'm itred of hearing the public say barbers are scalping them," said Tony. "You will please note my car is five years old and I am still using the same scissors I started business with. Just can't afford a new pair."

Fascinated, Wilbur studied the figures. After work he dropped into a bar across the street. With his Martini the bartender held out a black notebook.

"My income tax payments for the last five years," he said. "The politicians say they are clean as a hound's tooth—well, I'm cleaner than a toothless hound. You can see no tax payment for 1949. I want to go into that in detail. I worked for my brother that year, and anybody knows when he works for a member of his own family he can't even steal enough to make him owe taxes."

Still later, when he entered his neighborhood grocery store, Wilbur was dazed to see the butcher scribbling like mad.

"The housewives are demanding a complete accounting of my finances," he said. "They even started an ugly rumor that I was curing my lumbago with a mustard plaster made of $100 bills. Come with me, Mr. Peeble. I want you to know the full truth."

Wilbur followed him into the back room, where the butcher peeled to the waist. Five $10 bills were bandaged across one kidney.

Wilbur laughed to himself all the way home.

"The political candidates now have got the voters following their bare-your bankbook campaigns," he told his wife, and added jokin:

"When are you going to give a public report on your private fur coat fund."

"I'm glad you brought that up, Wilbur," said Trellis Mae. She went to a vase and shook out a small batch of paper.

"The fund is empty," she said "But I have 10 of your IOUs totaling $150. What I want to know is what you did with the money. And don't tell me you used it to fight Communism. Are you subsidizing that new blonde stenographer in your office?"

Wilbur's mouth opened and closed like a winded goldfish.

"I deny all," he said. "I will not dignify such baseless accusations with an answer. This trend toward financial nudish has got to stop somewhere, and it is going to stop right here."

But if you think it did—well, you just don't know Trellis Mae.

Sokolsky's

"It was a period of relatively peaceful capitalist development, a pre-war period, so to speak, when the disastrous contradictions of imperialism had not yet so obviously revealed themselves, when economic strikes and trade unions developed more or less 'normally,' when in the electoral struggles and parliamentary fractions 'dizzy' successes were achieved, when the legal forms of struggle were exalted to the skies, and when it was hoped to 'kill' capitalism by legal means. . ."

Stalin insists that all Communists must oppose their own country in order more ably to support the revolutionary cause throughout the world. For loyalty, patriotism, according to Stalin, only results in the revolutionists exterminating "each other for the greater glory of the capitalist fatherland."

Americans ask, how is it possible for an intelligent man to twist and turn with every change of the Communist Party line? The answer is that here is a main line—the world revolution, the achievement of the proletarian dictatorship—and there are secondary lines to which they must adapt themselves from time to time and in each different place.

Stalin gives as the first major line of the revolution:

". . . an intensification of the revolutionary crisis in the capitalist countries and the growth of the elements of an explosion on the internal, proletarian front in the 'other countries.' "

Because of this, which is laid down as basic dogma, every Communist must work against his own country all the time in order to bring on the "explosion" which will destroy its traditional society and bring on the revolution. There must be strikes, sabotage, disorder, struggles.

Personal
To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Russian Army Sergeant Flees

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 16 —(AP)—U. S. High Commission authorities disclosed Wednesday that Pavel Aleksandrovich Bondarchuk, 23-year-old sergeant in the Soviet army, has been granted political asylum in West Germany.

Bondarchuk fled from his unit last summer by boarding a streetcar in the Russian zone of Austria and riding into four-power-occupied Vienna. From there he made his way to the American zone.

"In Austria I was treated like a prisoner during my 3½ years' service there," he told American officials. "I had no home leave, no leave at all. We could not have Austrian friends."

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Ohio State University has announced appointment of James H. McElhaney as new assistant dean of men.

JUNE MARGERUM, 18, is watched over by Nurse Martha Hayes in the Bristol General Hospital, Bristol, Pa. Found lying in a drainage ditch in a coma, the girl awoke long enough to tell doctors that she was walking to town when "everything went black." Physicians believe a severe mental disturbance over her family may have caused her condition. (International)

Elinor Williams'

Teen Tips

Why is it that some boys always accept invitations but never come up with one of their own? It's the worst of bad manners and makes girls wonder what goes on under the crew cut. . .here's a letter from one of them:

"When a girl asked a boy to act as her escort to a prom, is he expected to repay this evening in any way?" she asks. "I would like to ask this boy again, as I think he is very nice. But would it appear to be proper under the circumstances as it now stands?"

Ans.—A boy shouldn't accept an invitation from a girl unless he likes her enough to ask her for a date in return afterward. . .not necessarily a dance, but at least a movie, a school game, a picnic, etc. It's a rule of good manners to entertain those who have entertained you, not only while in school but all through life. Some boys evidently don't know it. You could give him a second invitation, if you like, but not again after that, until he comes up with one.

"How do you tactfully refuse goodnight kisses?" asks another girl. "If I kiss boys, they seem to think I want to 'go steady' with them, and I don't want to 'go steady' yet."

Ans.—Some girls leave the front door light on to help discourage goodnight kisses. Others say, 'When we know each other better. . .' or "Not THIS time. . ." because this is not too final or definite a refusal in case you decide later that you like one of them enough to kiss him or "go steady" after all.

Look what a FEW EXTRA DOLLARS will buy

WE'LL be the first to admit that you can buy a car for less than the price of a Buick.

But not so much less as most people think.

For the few extra dollars you pay for a Buick, you get the ginger and thrill of a lot more power than you'll get in any other car of its price and pounds—plus the big miles-per-gallon figures of Buick's famed high-compression Fireball 8 Engine.

You get size and room and looks to do you proud—comfort you'll hardly believe—and that good sense of security that only ample weight can impart.

You get the all-coil-spring ride that a million dollars couldn't duplicate. You get handling, steering, braking, turning—all with an ease that women especially appreciate.

We could go on at length about a lot of other things, including a fair-sized list of items you get in every Buick but which cost extra on lesser cars.

But why go on? The fun and fine feeling and wondrous comfort you enjoy in a Buick are things you shouldn't be missing for just a few extra dollars. And the value—you just can't pass that up.

Bubble Gum Business Booming; Sticky Cud Often Is Currency

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—A 10-year-old girl in a New Jersey amusement park recently took a piece of gum and airily blew it into a bubble 20 inches in diameter.

"We had always thought a 17-inch bubble was about the limit," he said.

There was a trace of envy in his voice as he recounted the young girl's feat, a real landmark in the history of bubble gum.

"Personally, I'm not a very good bubble blower myself," Hutson admitted wistfully. "I'm handicapped by false teeth. Kids don't have that problem."

The irony in Hutson's case arises from the fact he is president of a Philadelphia firm that turns out two billion pieces of "Dubble Bubble" gum a year. He estimates this is about half of America's annual output.

In less than 25 years this business built on a bubble has grown into a still mushrooming $40 million industry. Bubble gum has followed the American flag, and is now popular around the globe. Eskimo children even prefer it to blubber.

Hutson's product has been banned in Iron Curtain countries because the wrapper of each piece of gum contains a printed U. S. historical fact and a comic strip about a typical American family.

"The Russians banned it two years ago because the comic strip made the American way of life too happy," he said.

The U. S. Army buys 20 million pieces a year, and troops overseas have used it to plug oil leaks in bombers or to keep rain out of their rifles. They sometimes found it better than money in Korea to hire kids to clean their barracks or run errands.

"We have heard of many instances where it has been used as currency," said Hutson. "Some headhunters in Borneo captured a minor British diplomatic official and released him only after a ransom of 2,400 pieces of bubble gum was paid.

"And in Africa we had a report that a man bought a wife for a case of bubble gum instead of the usual price—two or three oxen and a half dozen sheep."

Bubble gum formerly was made from pointianak, a gum tapped from a Borneo tree. When this source dried up during the last war, the industry developed a plastic base, and this is still used.

Hutson employs 21 persons, including three chemists, who do nothing but test and blow bubble gum. He is proud that, although he is a poor blower himself, he was able in his laboratory to stretch an inch square piece of gum large enough to cover an 8-by-10-foot rug.

"It was rather frightening," he said. "We didn't know what to do with it."

Many a mother with a gum-chewing small son, however, would hardly regard that as a record.

Hutson sees no bust ahead in the boom in the world's largest penny confectionery. Adults buy only six percent of the bubble gum output, the kids buy the rest themselves.

"Our market is the children from 5 to 15—and there are 28 million in America alone," said Hutson, and added dreamily:

Hutson is violently opposed to marketing bubble gum on a health basis or on the grounds it provides needed exercise for growing mouths.

"The day they start putting chlorophyll in it I retire," he said. "We never claim bubble gum is good for kids. It is just one of the few things left that can give them harmless fun for a penny."

Weekly Food Review

By Associated Press

Retail egg prices turned downward this week in many stores after running into consumer price resistance. And the majority of fresh vegetables edged higher as supplies from nearby growing areas decreased seasonally.

Otherwise, changes in food prices were too slight and scattered to make much difference in the family food budget. Reductions in meat prices were largely confined to "shopping specials" trimmed to attract customers. These featured items showed an unusually wide variety.

Higher priced on most produce counters this week were a long list of fresh vegetables including snap and lima beans, cabbage, celery, eggplant, onions, squash, sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Lower were carrots, cucumbers and lettuce. Bargain vegetables in many markets included cabbage, cucumbers, peppers and spinach. Citrus fruits were generally a little lower.

Appearing most frequently on the lists of shopping specials for the rest of this week were chicken fryers, roasters and stewing hens, hams and fresh pork Boston butts, legs of lamb, lamb chops, round steak, round pot roasts, and several types of fresh and frozen fish.

The Agricultural Department stressed raisins and cauliflower as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week.

Small New Jersey Christ Church Monument To Famed Captain Kidd

By MARGARET HERTZ

SHREWSBURY, N. J. — Pirate treasure from the ships of Captain Kidd, invested in New Jersey real estate in the late Seventeenth Century, is the fountain head from which grew the pre-Revolutionary Christ Episcopal church at Shrewsbury, now in its 183rd year of Christian service.

The Rev. Father Theodore Levan, rector of Christ church, has documentary evidence to back up his own belief that William Kidd was "a righteous man; steadfast in his faith."

The treasure invested by Captain Kidd was not gold. The original contract, one of the proud possessions of the church, covers a transaction with the early Navesink tribe of Indians for several thousand fertile New Jersey acres in exchange for "nine quarts of rum with the cask, three blankets, six yards of Duffield tobacco, two new shirts and two good new shirts to be paid in six months and a good kettle within 14 months."

Popular legend is that Captain Kidd suffered agonizing remorse over his extra-legal adventures, and wept copiously into his tankard of rum as he philosophized upon the merits of religion.

Whatever the reason, the doughty captain arranged to procure the land, sell it off in small farms, and contribute the proceeds to the church.

• • •

BEFORE he could carry out his mission, Captain Kidd was captured and hanged from the yardarm of an English frigate on May 23 1701. The responsibility for carrying out Captain Kidd's intentions fell on the shoulders of William Leeds, one of his lieutenants.

Instead of selling the land, Leeds converted it into a farm and used it for himself until 1734, when he deeded the entire property to the Episcopal church.

The land was sold piecemeal just as the pirate captain had planned. In 1769, for 300 English pounds, Christ church of Shrewsbury was erected. It was centered amid sheltering trees in the quiet graveyard of an earlier house of worship that had been destroyed by fire.

Established under British rule, Shrewsbury's Christ church still retains many reminders of its early English influence. South of the altar is the rector's family pew which is now used to house a Vinegar Bible, one of seven in existence.

Through a printing error the Parable of the Vineyard, Book of St. Luke, chapter 19, was headed "Parable of the Vinegar." The volume was presented to the earlier church in 1752 by Robert Elliston, comptroller of his majesty's customs in New York.

North of the altar is the pew once occupied by Lewis Morris, one of the early colonial governors. "It is probably the only canopied pew in the United States," Father Levan says, "And it still flies the British flag."

On the church spire is a replica of the golden seal of the Crown of England. According to legend American troops quartered in the church during the Revolution tried unsuccessfully to shoot down the seal with grapeshot. Bullet marks remaining in the ornamental plaque attest to the marksmanship of our early sharpshooters.

In the south aisle of the church is the grave of Theodosius Bartow, father-in-law of Aaron Burr.

Except for a few modern conveniences such as electricity and heating, the church has remained unaltered through the years.

2 French Reds Held In Pillage

BORDEAU, France, Oct. —(AP)—Two directors of the Communist newspaper Les Nouvelles de Bordeaux have been arrested and charged with provoking pillage, an outgrowth of a Communist sacking of the U. S. Information Service office here last May.

The Reds smashed into USIS headquarters during anti-Ridgway riots, tore up large numbers of American publications and caused heavy damage. The newspaper published a story calling the raid "a victory for France." The two directors are Henri Bordage and Raoul Martinez.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was delivered at the dedication of a Civil War cemetery on November 19, 1863.

THREE ROCKET SHIPS make perfect five-point landings on the craterous face of the moon as visioned by Dr. Wernher von Braun, world's leading rocket expert. Dr. von Braun predicted a 50-man expedition of scientists would reach the moon in 1977 in ships such as these. The ships will have 30 rocket engines, be 160 feet tall, and take-off from a space station 1,075 miles above the earth. Two of the ships (upper left and right) will be passenger ships, and the third will carry supplies and equipment for a six-week stay on the moon, according to the scientist's pattern. (Copyright Collier's Magazine from International)

The notice said:

"To all employes:

"The management has been asked whether it plans to start a gift fund to retain high caliber employes who have been offered government jobs at three times their present salary. We don't.

"The management also announces that if the employes wish to start a private fund to help the firm meet its expenses their contributions will be gratefully accepted.

The Boss

Wilbur shook his head. Later in the morning he sneaked downstairs to get a haircut on company time.

"What is this, Tony?" asked Wilbur.

"My profit-and-loss statement for the last 20 years," replied Tony.

"What do I care about that?" said Wilbur.

"I'm itred of hearing the public say barbers are scalping them," said Tony. "You will please note my car is five years old and I am still using the same scissors I started business with. Just can't afford a new pair."

"My income tax payments for the last five years," he said. "The politicians say they are clean as a hound's tooth—well, I'm cleaner than a toothless hound. You can see no tax payment for 1949. I want to go into that in detail. I worked for my brother that year, and anybody knows when he works for a member of his own family he can't even steal enough to make him owe taxes."

Still later, when he entered his neighborhood grocery store, Wilbur was dazed to see the butcher scribbling like mad.

"The housewives are demanding a complete accounting of my finances," he said. "They even started an ugly rumor that I was curing my lumbago with a mustard plaster made of $100 bills. Come with me, Mr. Peeble. I want you to know the full truth."

Wilbur followed him into the back room, where the butcher peeled to the waist. Five $10 bills were bandaged across one kidney.

Wilbur laughed to himself all the way home.

"The political candidates now have got the voters following their bare-your bankbook campaigns," he told his wife, and added jokin:

"When are you going to give a public report on your private fur coat fund."

"I'm glad you brought that up, Wilbur," said Trellis Mae. She went to a vase and shook out a small batch of paper.

"The fund is empty," she said "But I have 10 of your IOUs totaling $150. What I want to know is what you did with the money. And don't tell me you used it to fight Communism. Are you subsidizing that new blonde stenographer in your office?"

Wilbur's mouth opened and closed like a winded goldfish.

"I deny all," he said. "I will not dignify such baseless accusations with an answer. This trend toward financial nudish has got to stop somewhere, and it is going to stop right here."

But if you think it did—well, you just don't know Trellis Mae.

Sokolsky's

Stalin insists that all Communists must oppose their own country in order more ably to support the revolutionary cause throughout the world. For loyalty, patriotism, according to Stalin, only results in the revolutionists exterminating "each other for the greater glory of the capitalist fatherland."

Americans ask, how is it possible for an intelligent man to twist and turn with every change of the Communist Party line? The answer is that here is a main line—the world revolution, the achievement of the proletarian dictatorship—and there are secondary lines to which they must adapt themselves from time to time and in each different place.

Stalin gives as the first major line of the revolution:

". . . an intensification of the revolutionary crisis in the capitalist countries and the growth of the elements of an explosion on the internal, proletarian front in the 'other countries.' "

Because of this, which is laid down as basic dogma, every Communist must work against his own country all the time in order to bring on the "explosion" which will destroy its traditional society and bring on the revolution. There must be strikes, sabotage, disorder, struggles.

Personal
To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Russian Army Sergeant Flees

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 16 —(AP)—U. S. High Commission authorities disclosed Wednesday that Pavel Aleksandrovich Bondarchuk, 23-year-old sergeant in the Soviet army, has been granted political asylum in West Germany.

Bondarchuk fled from his unit last summer by boarding a streetcar in the Russian zone of Austria and riding into four-power-occupied Vienna. From there he made his way to the American zone.

"In Austria I was treated like a prisoner during my 3½ years' service there," he told American officials. "I had no home leave, no leave at all. We could not have Austrian friends."

Teen Tips

Why is it that some boys always accept invitations but never come up with one of their own? It's the worst of bad manners and makes girls wonder what goes on under the crew cut. . .here's a letter from one of them:

"When a girl asked a boy to act as her escort to a prom, is he expected to repay this evening in any way?" she asks. "I would like to ask this boy again, as I think he is very nice. But would it appear to be proper under the circumstances as it now stands?"

Ans.—A boy shouldn't accept an invitation from a girl unless he likes her enough to ask her for a date in return afterward. . .not necessarily a dance, but at least a movie, a school game, a picnic, etc. It's a rule of good manners to entertain those who have entertained you, not only while in school but all through life. Some boys evidently don't know it. You could give him a second invitation, if you like, but not again after that, until he comes up with one.

"How do you tactfully refuse goodnight kisses?" asks another girl. "If I kiss boys, they seem to think I want to 'go steady' with them, and I don't want to 'go steady' yet."

Ans.—Some girls leave the front door light on to help discourage goodnight kisses. Others say, 'When we know each other better. . .' or "Not THIS time. . ." because this is not too final or definite a refusal in case you decide later that you like one of them enough to kiss him or "go steady" after all.

Look what a FEW EXTRA DOLLARS will buy

WE'LL be the first to admit that you can buy a car for less than the price of a Buick.

But not so much less as most people think.

For the few extra dollars you pay for a Buick, you get the ginger and thrill of a lot more power than you'll get in any other car of its price and pounds—plus the big miles-per-gallon figures of Buick's famed high-compression Fireball 8 Engine.

You get size and room and looks to do you proud—comfort you'll hardly believe—and that good sense of security that only ample weight can impart.

You get the all-coil-spring ride that a million dollars couldn't duplicate. You get handling, steering, braking, turning—all with an ease that women especially appreciate.

We could go on at length about a lot of other things, including a fair-sized list of items you get in every Buick but which cost extra on lesser cars.

But why go on? The fun and fine feeling and wondrous comfort you enjoy in a Buick are things you shouldn't be missing for just a few extra dollars. And the value—you just can't pass that up.

World Today

By James Marlow
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The word "trade" is about as unemotional as any in the language, which is why, perhaps, nothing much has been said about it in this presidential campaign although the campaign has been full of talk about dealing with Russia.

Any trade with Russia, or rather the lack of it, is one of the major weapons in the Cold War, as W. Averell Harriman, director of the Mutual Security Agency, pointed out in a report this week. His organization is successor to the old Marshall Plan.

The latter was created to give economic help to Europe which, had it remained flat and broke, might have been taken over by Russia without firing a shot.

It might seem that, since this country and its allies were in a cold war with Russia, and both sides were building up their armaments which might be used any day in a shooting war, all trade would cease between the West and Russia.

• • •

BUT IN HIS report Harriman said "cutting off trade entirely would harm our common defense effort more than it harms the potential aggressor."

He said other non-Communist countries receive from the Soviet bloc "commodities that are extremely valuable to their own defense efforts and economic stability on which their defense is based."

But while some kind of trade with Russia might be all right—trade in items that didn't help Russia's war machine—this country had the problem of being sure Russia didn't get war materials from other Western sources.

To be doubly sure about it, Congress passed a law—called the Battle Act, making it mandatory for this country to shut off any aid to a country exporting war goods to Russia.

This same law also said American help to any country should be shut off, unless the President decided otherwise, if it exported to Russia materials of strategic value, like petroleum and certain kinds of transportation equipment, that could be used to produce war goods.

HARRIMAN SAID that for several years the important free world nations "have refused without any exception the shipment to the Soviet bloc of arms, ammunition, implements of war, or atomic energy materials."

The Battle Act went into effect last January. Harriman's report was an explanation of how the act has been carried out. Between January and July he said there were only three cases of countries shipping forbidden goods to Russia.

But they were in the group which permitted the President to use his own discretion about shutting off aid. For various reasons, Harriman explained, the President decided not to shut off American aid to the three countries: The Netherlands, Italy, and Denmark.

In his report Harriman made it clear this country didn't expect to stop Russia's war production—since it has most of the basic raw material it needs. But he said he did think export controls might slow it up. At least, the controls won't help it.

Small New Jersey Christ Church Monument To Famed Captain Kidd

By MARGARET HERTZ

SHREWSBURY, N. J. — Pirate treasure from the ships of Captain Kidd, invested in New Jersey real estate in the late Seventeenth Century, is the fountain head from which grew the pre-Revolutionary Christ Episcopal church at Shrewsbury, now in its 183rd year of Christian service.

The Rev. Father Theodore Levan, rector of Christ church, has documentary evidence to back up his own belief that William Kidd was "a righteous man; steadfast in his faith."

The treasure invested by Captain Kidd was not gold. The original contract, one of the proud possessions of the church, covers a transaction with the early Navesink tribe of Indians for several thousand fertile New Jersey acres in exchange for "nine quarts of rum with the cask, three blankets, six yards of Duffield tobacco, two new shirts and two good new shirts to be paid in six months and a good kettle within 14 months."

Popular legend is that Captain Kidd suffered agonizing remorse over his extra-legal adventures, and wept copiously into his tankard of rum as he philosophized upon the merits of religion.

Whatever the reason, the doughty captain arranged to procure the land, sell it off in small farms, and contribute the proceeds to the church.

BEFORE he could carry out his mission, Captain Kidd was captured and hanged from the yardarm of an English frigate on May 23 1701. The responsibility for carrying out Captain Kidd's intentions fell on the shoulders of William Leeds, one of his lieutenants.

Instead of selling the land, Leeds converted it into a farm and used it for himself until 1734, when he deeded the entire property to the Episcopal church.

The land was sold piecemeal just as the pirate captain had planned. In 1769, for 300 English pounds, Christ church of Shrewsbury was erected. It was centered amid sheltering trees in the quiet graveyard of an earlier house of worship that had been destroyed by fire.

Established under British rule, Shrewsbury's Christ church still retains many reminders of its early English influence. South of the altar is the rector's family pew which is now used to house a Vinegar Bible, one of seven in existence.

Through a printing error the Parable of the Vineyard, Book of St. Luke, chapter 19, was headed "Parable of the Vinegar." The volume was presented to the earlier church in 1752 by Robert Elliston, comptroller of his majesty's customs in New York.

North of the altar is the pew once occupied by Lewis Morris, one of the early colonial governors. "It is probably the only canopied pew in the United States," Father Levan says, "And it still flies the British flag."

On the church spire is a replica of the golden seal of the Crown of England. According to legend American troops quartered in the church during the Revolution tried unsuccessfully to shoot down the seal with grapeshot. Bullet marks remaining in the ornamental plaque attest to the marksmanship of our early sharpshooters.

In the south aisle of the church is the grave of Theodosius Bartow, father-in-law of Aaron Burr.

2 French Reds Held In Pillage

BORDEAU, France, Oct. — (AP) —Two directors of the Communist newspaper Les Nouvelles de Bordeaux have been arrested and charged with provoking pillage, an outgrowth of a Communist sacking of the U. S. Information Service office here last May.

The Reds smashed into USIS headquarters during anti-Ridgway riots, tore up large numbers of American publications and caused heavy damage. The newspaper published a story calling the raid "a victory for France." The two directors are Henri Bordage and Raoul Martinez.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was delivered at the dedication of a Civil War cemetery on November 19, 1863.

THREE ROCKET SHIPS make perfect five-point landings on the craterous face of the moon as visioned by Dr. Wernher von Braun, world's leading rocket expert. Dr. von Braun predicted a 50-man expedition of scientists would reach the moon in 1977 in ships such as these. The ships will have 30 rocket engines, be 160 feet tall, and take-off from a space station 1,075 miles above the earth. Two of the ships (upper left and right) will be passenger ships, and the third will carry supplies and equipment for a six-week stay on the moon, according to the scientist's pattern. (Copyright Collier's Magazine from International)

Just arrived! Silky new fine-weave corduroys, cut so the weave goes across, instead of up-and-down. Tailored just like your suit. All the new colors. Get yours today!

Kinsey's Men's Shop

You'll be glad you waited for a Siegler—

If you've already placed your order for your Siegler, please be patient, your heater is on the way.

In spite of the fact that tripled capacity has made possible the production of many more Siegler heaters this year than ever before, the tremendous demand for Siegler quality has caused many of our dealers to temporarily run out of stock.

Everybody wants it— only Siegler has it— Tropical Floor Heat

Ingenious Plot To Beat Nags Almost Works

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The story of how an alarm clock in a mail bag almost put over a $41,459 betting coup was unfolded Wednesday in Old Bailey police court.

In the dock was Keith L. Young, 26, inventor of the brand new way to beat the horses. He pleaded guilty to a charge of trying to gyp his bookmaker and was sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Prosecutor James Burge said Young's "highly ingenious" scheme depended on the British handbook practice of accepting bets by mail. It went like this:

Young wrote his own address on three paper flaps which he pasted lightly to the front of three envelopes. He posted the envelopes, which were shortly delivered back to him bearing a cancellation date a day previous to his planned big gamble.

He waited until the day's racing results were in and wrote down a five-horse "accumulator" — British for parlay—which called for winnings of $41,459 for a $56 bet.

Young then put the letters and a specially-rigged alarm clock in a parcel addressed to Glasgow. The alarm clock was set for 10 p. m., when the mail train was due to be well on its way.

The alarm went off on schedule. A razor blade attached to the alarm winder whirled around and around, cutting the rubber bands which held the parcel together. It flew apart, strewing the letters among the other mail.

The letters reached the bookmaker, but he didn't reach for his checkbook. He grabbed the phone and called the police. Explained Burge:

"Obviously this accumulator bet of five successful long shots would arouse the suspicion of any bookmaker, and it did."

World Series Player Shares Handed Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick has announced official distribution of World Series receipts, including $6,026.32 for each full New York Yankee share and $4,200.64 for each full Brooklyn share.

The winning Yanks cut in 46 players, 27 of them for full shares. Gerry Coleman and Bobby Brown, both in service, each received three-quarter shares of $4,519.73, Ewell Blackwell and Ray Scarborough got two-thirds of a share each or $4,017.54 and Charlie Keller was voted a cash sum of $1,000.

Brooklyn sliced its money 44 ways with 29 full shares and varying partial shares including $500 checks to Don Newcombe and Erv Palica who were in the armed service all year.

The second place New York Giants voted 31 full shares of $1,071.44 and partial shares to five other men. Cleveland, second in the American League, got $1,066.35 each for 27 full shares and also partial shares and cash to cover a total of 46 men.

Yankee Hanover Favored In Trot

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 16—(AP)—Winner of 19 out of 20 races this year, Yankee Hanover was an even money choice to ring up No. 20 Thursday night in the $25,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway.

Pronto Don is the chief contender among the 10 other top-notch trotters in the first big stake race of the Grand Circuit's fall meeting at the oval. The event is listed for a mile and a half. Pronto Don won the Gotham last year and was 1951 Harness Horse of the Year.

Even Red Riding Hood Believes This Guy This Guy Announces

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Once upon a time there was a little girl who always wore a red dress, coat and hat. She was known as Little Red Riding Hood. One Saturday afternoon she went into the woods to visit her grandmother—and missed all the football scores.

But she missed nothing. She had read predictions by this expert and knew how all the games would come out. Last week's record: 44 correct, 12 incorrect for .786. The .786 also is the season's average.

Michigan State over Syracuse: The Spartans, no matter which of his tree teams Coach Biggie Munn plays, have been voted the nation's best. Syracuse, possibly the East's best, should make it interesting.

Maryland over Navy: Two unbeaten neighbors, and you know there is no brawl like a neighborhood brawl.

* * *

(Chamberlin predicts a score of Ohio State 21, Washington State 7).

Duke over North Carolina State: Hardly more than a workout.

UCLA over Stanford: UCLA's defense, with Donn Moomaw as the big man, has yielded only two touchdowns in the first four games.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The word "trade" is about as unemotional as any in the language, which is why, perhaps, nothing much has been said about it in this presidential campaign although the campaign has been full of talk about dealing with Russia.

Any trade with Russia, or rather the lack of it, is one of the major weapons in the Cold War, as W. Averell Harriman, director of the Mutual Security Agency, pointed out in a report this week. His organization is successor to the old Marshall Plan.

The latter was created to give economic help to Europe which, had it remained flat and broke, might have been taken over by Russia without firing a shot.

It might seem that, since this country and its allies were in a cold war with Russia, and both sides were building up their armaments which might be used any day in a shooting war, all trade would cease between the West and Russia.

It might seem ridiculous that any country allied with the U. S. or receiving help from this country would at the same time be trading with Russia.

* * *

BUT IN HIS report Harriman said "cutting off trade entirely would harm our common defense effort more than it harms the potential aggressor."

He said other non-Communist countries receive from the Soviet bloc "commodities that are extremely valuable to their own defense efforts and economic stability on which their defense is based."

But while some kind of trade with Russia might be all right—trade in items that didn't help Russia's war machine—this country had the problem of being sure Russia didn't get war materials from other Western sources.

So the U. S. had to work out arrangements with the countries getting American help to control shipments to Russia.

To be doubly sure about it, Congress passed a law—called the Battle Act, making it mandatory for this country to shut off any aid to a country exporting war goods to Russia.

This same law also said American help to any country should be shut off, unless the President decided otherwise, if it exported to Russia materials of strategic value, like petroleum and certain kinds of transportation equipment, that could be used to produce war goods.

* * *

HARRIMAN SAID that for several years the important free world nations "have refused without any exception the shipment to the Soviet bloc of arms, ammunition, implements of war, or atomic energy materials."

The Battle Act went into effect last January. Harriman's report was an explanation of how the act has been carried out. Between January and July he said there were only three cases of countries shipping forbidden goods to Russia.

One case involved equipment for exploring for oil; another, a grinding machine; and a tanker.

But they were in the group which permitted the President to use his own discretion about shutting off aid. For various reasons, Harriman explained, the President decided not to shut off American aid to the three countries: The Netherlands, Italy, and Denmark.

In his report Harriman made it clear this country didn't expect to stop Russia's war production—since it has most of the basic raw material it needs. But he said he did think export controls might slow it up. At least, the controls won't help it.

Tigers To Be In Fast Company In Friday's St. Charles Tilt

Circleville's Red and Black football team will be in fast company Friday night when they play host to the unbeaten Cardinal gridders of St. Charles Friday night.

In five games to date this season, the Cardinals have completely demolished most of their foes, allowing only two of their opponents to score against them.

The Tigers opened the season with a bang, posting a 32-6 victory over Columbus Holy Rosary, and then lost the next four games in a row.

Last Friday, the Cardinals posted a 47-13 win over the Rosary team which the Tigers bested by 32-6; and the week previously the St. Charles team swamped Linden McKinley by a 51-0 margin. Circleville lost to Linden by a 14-13 count.

* * *

OTHER VICTORIES by the Cardinals this season were 26-0 over Bexley; 6-0 over Columbus Central; and 32-6 over Ironton.

Leading scorer for the Cardinal invaders is 155-pound Mike Grannan, left halfback. Grannan has tallied 50 points to date for the Cardinals.

Baumann and End Dick Wroblewski are the only of last year's "regulars" on the squad, although 13 of the players earned letters last season.

Fr. Edward Spiers, athletic director for the St. Charles school, was asked Thursday whether his team was equipped with the "tear-away" type of jersies which was rumored.

Weight averages of the two teams will be about equal in Friday's encounter. St. Charles will bring a team averaging about 165 on the line and 155 in the backfield.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE Coach Steve Brudzinski said his starting lineup for the St. Charles invasion will remain the same as the last two weeks.

The Tigers are expected to be without the services of Defensive Lineman Jim Arledge this week, however. Arledge suffered a badly-bruised knee in last week's game at Grandview.

A large number of spectators is promised for Friday's match, due to the winning ways of the invaders. Fr. Spiers said two chartered buses are to bring fans to the game, in addition to those who will drive down.

St. Charles gridders will be clad in cardinal for the game—cardinal shirts with white numerals, cardinal pants and cardinal helmets.

Musial, Doby Win Slugging Titles In '52

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cleveland Indians' Larry Doby are wearing the 1952 major league slugging crowns today.

Final figures calculated by the Associated Press reveal Musial accumulated 311 total bases in 578 at bats to pace the National League sluggers with a .538 average. Doby, producing 281 total bases in 519 trips to the plate, topped the American League with a .541 slugging percentage.

Musial's collection of 194 hits included 42 doubles, six triples annd 221 homeruns. Doby got 26 doubles, eight triples and 32 homers among his total of 143 safeties.

Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski ranked third in the slugging parade with .510, followed Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, both tied for fourth at .500.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees gained runnerup honors in the American League with a .528 percentage. Al Rosen of the Indians was third with .522, trailed by teammate Luke Easter in fourth at .513.

Peppery Jim Carter Regains World's Lightweight Title

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Gritty Lauro Salas, who left a job as signalman on the Mexican National Railway to take up boxing, left a switch open Wednesday night and Jimmy Carter expressed through to regain the world's lightweight championship.

The 24-year-old youth from Monterrey and Los Angeles showed an instinctive gameness in standing up to Carter's sharp shots. But that was about all.

His five-month reign as his country's only undisputed champion in ring history ended as abruptly as it began last May, when he lifted Carter's crown in Los Angeles.

* * *

THE NATIONALLY televised and broadcast scrap at Chicago Stadium attracted only 5,283 fans at ringside, one of the smallest championship crowds on record. Carter and Salas each received $6,428 as a share in a net gate of $21,429. But each also picked up nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Carter's decision was overwhelming as he became the first lightweight to recapture the title since Lou Ambers did it against Henry Armstrong in 1939.

They awarded Salas the 11th and 12th rounds when the little Mexican rallied furiously and desperately to force Carter into the ropes several times. But Carter was never hurt and not even severely jolted.

The best that could be said of Salas was his ability to weather Carter's smashes and keep a record intact of never having been knocked off his feet.

School Ponders Quitting Football

PROCTORVILLE, Oct. 16—(AP)—Principal Harry Wilgus of nearby Fairland high school said a decision will be made Thursday whether to continue football at the school.

The question came up when James Carter, 18, died Sunday of injuries received in a game at Chesapeake last Friday. Wilgus said team members will "talk it over" with their parents. A game scheduled for Friday against Rockhill has been cancelled.

Schools' Tax Share Declines

NEW YORK—(AP)—In 1939 the nation's schools received about 16 cents of each tax dollar but in 1952 the figure is down to 8 cents, according to Dr. John K. Norton of Teachers College, Columbia University.

He said that while the average wage of all employed persons increased 167 per cent in the war years, the wage rate of teachers increased only 132 per cent.

Fillies Given Record High Pot In 1952

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—Two and three-year-old trotting and pacing fillies raced for a record-shattering $387,808 in prize money this year.

The U. S. Trotting Association said that principally responsible for the $200,000 increase over last year's record high of $186,000 was the inauguration of a series of breeder's filly stakes which were raced at six Grand Circuit stops.

A total of $185,135 was placed on the line for the breeder's stakes which were contested in Goshen, N. Y., Springfield and Du Quoin, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., Indianapolis and Delaware, O. The series will continue next year.

The breeder's stakes provided 24 of the 46 filly races. A total of $202,673 was distributed in the other events. In all, 114 fillies, 98 owners and 79 drivers shared in the purse distribution.

The biggest individual money-winner was the 3-year-old trotting filly Lu Peck, owned by O. L. Mears of Toledo, who earned $30,365.75 on the strength of 13 wins and one second in 14 filly heats.

Leading driver was Del Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., who earned $54,730 off 17 wins, nine seconds and six thirds. Among his mounts were Lively Lady, Miss Decatur, Silent Waters, Adios Ann and Heli-

Hietikko Is Lost To Buckeye '11'

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—(AP)—Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State University termed the broken arm suffered Wednesday by Jim Hietikko, offensive tackle, "a terrific loss to the team."

Hietikko, 6-3, 221-pound senior, received two broken bones in his right forearm when a player fell on him during practice. Physicians said he would be out for the rest of the season. Hayes said Don Swartz of Newark would take over Hietikko's spot in Saturday's game against Washington State.

In 13 years, Coach Charley Walker's San Jose State water polo teams have won 171, tied nine and lost 110 matches.

Ingenious Plot To Beat Nags Almost Works

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The story of how an alarm clock in a mail bag almost put over a $41,459 betting coup was unfolded Wednesday in Old Bailey police court.

In the dock was Keith L. Young, 26, inventor of the brand new way to beat the horses. He pleaded guilty to a charge of trying to gyp his bookmaker and was sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Prosecutor James Burge said Young's "highly ingenious" scheme depended on the British handbook practice of accepting bets by mail. It went like this:

Young wrote his own address on three paper flaps which he pasted lightly to the front of three envelopes. He posted the envelopes, which were shortly delivered back to him bearing a cancellation date a day previous to his planned big gamble.

At his home, Young removed the address flaps from the envelopes and readdressed them to his bookie in Glasgow.

He waited until the day's racing results were in and wrote down a five-horse "accumulator" — British for parlay—which called for winnings of $41,459 for a $56 bet.

Young then put the letters and a specially-rigged alarm clock in a parcel addressed to Glasgow. The alarm clock was set for 10 p. m., when the mail train was due to be well on its way.

The alarm went off on schedule. A razor blade attached to the alarm winder whirled around and around, cutting the rubber bands which held the parcel together. It flew apart, strewing the letters among the other mail.

The letters reached the bookmaker, but he didn't reach for his checkbook. He grabbed the phone and called the police. Explained Burge:

"Obviously this accumulator bet of five successful long shots would arouse the suspicion of any bookmaker, and it did."

World Series Player Shares Handed Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick has announced official distribution of World Series receipts, including $6,026.32 for each full New York Yankee share and $4,200.64 for each full Brooklyn share.

The winning Yanks cut in 46 players, 27 of them for full shares. Gerry Coleman and Bobby Brown, both in service, each received three-quarter shares of $4,519.73, Ewell Blackwell and Ray Scarborough got two-thirds of a share each or $4,017.54 and Charlie Keller was voted a cash sum of $1,000.

Brooklyn sliced its money 44 ways with 29 full shares and varying partial shares including $500 checks to Don Newcombe and Erv Palica who were in the armed service all year.

The second place New York Giants voted 31 full shares of $1,071.44 and partial shares to five other men. Cleveland, second in the American League, got $1,066.35 each for 27 full shares and also partial shares and cash to cover a total of 46 men.

Yankee Hanover Favored In Trot

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 16—(AP)—Winner of 19 out of 20 races this year, Yankee Hanover was an even money choice to ring up No. 20 Thursday night in the $25,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway.

Pronto Don is the chief contender among the 10 other top-notch trotters in the first big stake race of the Grand Circuit's fall meeting at the oval. The event is listed for a mile and a half. Pronto Don won the Gotham last year and was 1951 Harness Horse of the Year.

AP Guesspert Takes Look At College Card

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Once upon a time there was a little girl who always wore a red dress, coat and hat. She was known as Little Red Riding Hood. One Saturday afternoon she went into the woods to visit her grandmother—and missed all the football scores.

But she missed nothing. She had read predictions by this expert and knew how all the games would come out. Last week's record: 44 correct, 12 incorrect for .786. The .786 also is the season's average.

Michigan State over Syracuse: The Spartans, no matter which of his tree teams Coach Biggie Munn plays, have been voted the nation's best. Syracuse, possibly the East's best, should make it interesting.

Maryland over Navy: Two unbeaten neighbors, and you know there is no brawl like a neighborhood brawl.

* * *

(Chamberlin predicts a score of Ohio State 21, Washington State 7).

Duke over North Carolina State: Hardly more than a workout.

UCLA over Stanford: UCLA's defense, with Donn Moomaw as the big man, has yielded only two touchdowns in the first four games.

Southern California over Oregon State: The Trojans appear to have power enough to slay the jinx which so often hampers California teams in the Northwest.

Pittsburgh over Army: Two surprise winners of last Saturday coll

140 Officials To Man Polls In Circleville This Fall

Receiving And Counting Crews Listed

Half Of Workers Democrat; Other Half Republican

Officials to serve in all 13 precincts of Circleville and the one precinct of Circleville Township during the 1952 general election Nov. 4 have been named by the Pickaway County board of elections.

In all, a total of 140 officials will be on hand when voters visit the 14 polls in Circleville this Fall to cast what might be a record vote here.

Half of the total number of officials to serve in the polling places are Democrat, while the remaining half are Republican.

And the officials are divided into two categories—that is, six will serve in each precinct as members of the "receiving" crew and the other four will serve as the "counting" crew.

ENDING A 76-DAY FAST in a glass case in Brighton, England, Jack Wafer, a professional hypnotist from New York, still looks healthy as he is reunited with his baby daughter, Michelle. According to his wife, Wafer lived on soda water, cigarettes and a dash of self-hypnosis. On view 24 hours a day during the fast, he lost 21 pounds, won $28,000 in bets, and claims a world record. (International Radiophoto)

Timber Bugs Worse Than Forest Fires

A bug no bigger than the head of a kitchen match, the Douglas fir beetle, has sent a new breed of trapper into the woods of the west coast from Canada to California.

It killed more than 300 million board feet of timber last year on the Millicoma forest tree farm near Coos Bay, Ore. That much lumber would be enough for construction of 30,000 homes.

This beetle, the spruce budworm, the hemlock looper, the Douglas fir tussock moth and other bark beetles have grown into a greater menace to forests than fire.

The Douglas fir beetle bores into a tree and lays eggs in galleries mined out beneath the bark. The eggs hatch into larvae which cut the layer of wood through which the tree pumps moisture and nutrients from the soil, sunlight and air.

The tree dies from hunger and thirst, and the larvae come out from under the bark as mature insects which attack other trees.

• • •

ENTOMOLOGICAL trappers of the big timber set their traps on sections of both infested live trees and dead windfalls. Their purpose is to study every phase of the beetle's life and habits, developing information which will serve as a guide in insect control.

Evidence gathered thus far suggests that dead timber is the major breeder of beetles. And at present logging of the infested timber as soon as possible after the bugs have attacked is the only way to stop invasion.

Postmaster Cited By Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Chicago's former postmaster, John C. Haderlein, and 10 others in connection with alleged job selling in the Chicago postoffice.

Handerlein, who resigned his office shortly before the grand jury began its investigation, was accused of accepting bribes up to $1,000 to promote postal clerks to better jobs.

Tigers To Be In Fast Company In Friday's St. Charles Tilt

Circleville's Red and Black football team will be in fast company Friday night when they play host to the unbeaten Cardinal gridders of St. Charles Friday night.

In five games to date this season, the Cardinals have completely demolished most of their foes, allowing only two of their opponents to score against them.

Circleville's Tiger crew has a less impressive record.

The Tigers opened the season with a bang, posting a 32-6 victory over Columbus Holy Rosary, and then lost the next four games in a row.

By comparison, St. Charles holds a point-edge over the locals in Friday's fracas.

Last Friday, the Cardinals posted a 47-13 win over the Rosary team which the Tigers bested by 32-6; and the week previously the St. Charles team swamped Linden McKinley by a 51-0 margin. Circleville lost to Linden by a 14-13 count.

* * *

OTHER VICTORIES by the Cardinals this season were 26-0 over Bexley; 6-0 over Columbus Central; and 32-6 over Ironton.

Leading scorer for the Cardinal invaders is 155-pound Mike Grannan, left halfback. Grannan has tallied 50 points to date for the Cardinals.

Next-high scorer is Fullback Jack Baumann, who has crashed his 165-pounds into the end zone for 30 points to date.

Baumann and End Dick Wroblewski are the only of last year's "regulars" on the squad, although 13 of the players earned letters last season.

Fr. Edward Spiers, athletic director for the St. Charles school, was asked Thursday whether his team was equipped with the "tear-away" type of jersies which was rumored.

"No," said Spiers, "no 'tear-away' jersies, hidden wings or anything else.

Weight averages of the two teams will be about equal in Friday's encounter. St. Charles will bring a team averaging about 165 on the line and 155 in the backfield.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE Coach Steve Brudzinski said his starting lineup for the St. Charles invasion will remain the same as the last two weeks.

The Tigers are expected to be without the services of Defensive Lineman Jim Arledge this week, however. Arledge suffered a badly-bruised knee in last week's game at Grandview.

A large number of spectators is promised for Friday's match, due to the winning ways of the invaders. Fr. Spiers said two chartered buses are to bring fans to the game, in addition to those who will drive down.

St. Charles gridders will be clad in cardinal for the game—cardinal shirts with white numerals, cardinal pants and cardinal helmets.

Circleville will be clad in all-white uniforms for the skirmish.

Musial, Doby Win Slugging Titles In '52

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 — (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cleveland Indians' Larry Doby are wearing the 1952 major league slugging crowns today.

Final figures calculated by the Associated Press reveal Musial accumulated 311 total bases in 578 at bats to pace the National League sluggers with a .538 average. Doby, producing 281 total bases in 519 trips to the plate, topped the American League with a .541 slugging percentage.

Musial's collection of 194 hits included 42 doubles, six triples annd 221 homeruns. Doby got 26 doubles, eight triples and 32 homers among his total of 143 safeties.

Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski ranked third in the slugging parade with .510, followed Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, both tied for fourth at .500.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees gained runnerup honors in the American League with a .528 percentage. Al Rosen of the Indians was third with .522, trailed by teammate Luke Easter in fourth at .513.

School Ponders Quitting Football

PROCTORVILLE, Oct. 16—(AP)—Principal Harry Wilgus of nearby Fairland high school said a decision will be made Thursday whether to continue football at the school.

The question came up when James Carter, 18, died Sunday of injuries received in a game at Chesapeake last Friday. Wilgus said team members will "talk it over" with their parents. A game scheduled for Friday against Rockhill has been cancelled.

Schools' Tax Share Declines

NEW YORK—(AP)—In 1939 the nation's schools received about 16 cents of each tax dollar but in 1952 the figure is down to 8 cents, according to Dr. John K. Norton of Teachers College, Columbia University.

He said that while the average wage of all employed persons increased 167 per cent in the war years, the wage rate of teachers increased only 132 per cent.

Peppery Jim Carter Regains World's Lightweight Title

The 24-year-old youth from Monterrey and Los Angeles showed an instinctive gameness in standing up to Carter's sharp shots. But that was about all.

After 15 rounds, blood flowed from vicious gashes on both of Salas' eyebrows, a split lower lip and a battered nose.

His five-month reign as his country's only undisputed champion in ring history ended as abruptly as it began last May, when he lifted Carter's crown in Los Angeles.

* * *

THE NATIONALLY televised and broadcast scrap at Chicago Stadium attracted only 5,283 fans at ringside, one of the smallest championship crowds on record. Carter and Salas each received $6,428 as a share in a net gate of $21,429. But each also picked up nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Carter's decision was overwhelming as he became the first lightweight to recapture the title since Lou Ambers did it against Henry Armstrong in 1939.

They awarded Salas the 11th and 12th rounds when the little Mexican rallied furiously and desperately to force Carter into the ropes several times. But Carter was never hurt and not even severely jolted.

The best that could be said of Salas was his ability to weather Carter's smashes and keep a record intact of never having been knocked off his feet.

Fillies Given Record High Pot In 1952

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—Two and three-year-old trotting and pacing fillies raced for a record-shattering $387,808 in prize money this year.

The U. S. Trotting Association said that principally responsible for the $200,000 increase over last year's record high of $186,000 was the inauguration of a series of breeder's filly stakes which were raced at six Grand Circuit stops.

A total of $185,135 was placed on the line for the breeder's stakes which were contested in Goshen, N. Y., Springfield and Du Quoin, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., Indianapolis and Delaware, O. The series will continue next year.

The breeder's stakes provided 24 of the 46 filly races. A total of $202,673 was distributed in the other events. In all, 114 fillies, 98 owners and 79 drivers shared in the purse distribution.

The biggest individual money-winner was the 3-year-old trotting filly Lu Peck, owned by O. L. Mears of Toledo, who earned $30,365.75 on the strength of 13 wins and one second in 14 filly heats.

Leading driver was Del Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., who earned $54,730 off 17 wins, nine seconds and six thirds. Among his mounts were Lively Lady, Miss Decatur, Silent Waters, Adios Ann and Heliketo.

Hietikko Is Lost To Buckeye '11'

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16—(AP)—Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State University termed the broken arm suffered Wednesday by Jim Hietikko, offensive tackle, "a terrific loss to the team."

Hietikko, 6-3, 221-pound senior, received two broken bones in his right forearm when a player fell on him during practice. Physicians said he would be out for the rest of the season. Hayes said Don Swartz of Newark would take over Hietikko's spot in Saturday's game against Washington State.

In 13 years, Coach Charley Walker's San Jose State water polo teams have won 171, tied nine and lost 110 matches.

N PRIZES AWARDED FOR MPKIN PIES!

★ RULES ★

Pies eligible for Merchandise and Grand Prize must be made by Betty Crocker Stir-n-Roll Pie crust method, using Gold Medal Kitchen-tested Flour and Wesson Oil, or with Betty Crocker's Crustquick. The pie filling must be made with Country Colonel or Mozart Canned Pumpkin.

All pies must be accompanied by pumpkin can label plus Crustquick label. The Stir-n-Roll method entries must be accompanied by the Betty Crocker picture from receipt insert of Gold Medal Flour, (only one for all pies) Wesson Oil label and Pumpkin can label for each pie.

All pies entered will be baked in a standard 9-inch pie plate or tin and submitted before 12 o'clock noon each day at Lutheran Parish House for that days judging. Judging will be made daily at 12 noon.

All pies become the property of Pumpkin Show, Inc.

The four daily prize winners will submit pies made with the same ingredients as the pies with which they won the daily prize.

BETTY CROCKER STIR-N-ROLL METHOD PIE CRUST

Preheat Oven to 425 degrees.
1. Mix together 1 1-3 cups SIFTED GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Enriched Flour
1 tsp. salt
Pour into one measuring cup
BUT DON'T STIR TOGETHER . . . 1-3 cup Wesson Oil and . . . . 3 tbsp. cold whole milk
Then pour all at once into flour.
2. Stir until mixed. Press with hands into smooth ball. Flatten slightly.
3. Place between 2 sheets of waxed paper (12-in. square). Roll out gently until circle reaches edge of paper. (Waxed paper will not slip while rolling pastry, if table top under paper is slightly damp.)
Peel off top paper. If dough tears, mend without moistening by pressing edges together . . or by pressing a scrap of pastry lightly over tear.
4. Lift paper and pastry by top corners; they will cling together. Place (paper side up) in 9-in. pie pan. Carefully peel off paper. Gently ease and fit pastry into pan. Build up fluted edge.

CRUST QUICK METHOD PIE CRUST

Make.....Crustquick Pastry for 9-in. One-Crust Pie
Beat together with rotary beater.....
1¾ cups mashed cooked pumpkin (½ of no. 2½ can)
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups undiluted evaporated milk
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
1½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ginger
½ tsp. nutmeg

Pour into pastry-lined pie plate. (For well-browned undercrust, use ovenglass or dark tin pie plate). Bake 45 to 50 min. in hot oven (425°), or until a silver knife inserted into side of filling comes out clean. Center is soft but will "set" later. Serve slightly warm or cold and garnished with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

If you have read this column over a period of time, you are aware of my emphasis on the need of teaching the child from the time he begins to walk the unambiguous meaning of NO (rarely heard).

You also know that I entreat young parents to avoid making positive comments to the little child under four or five, and to make these only infrequently thereafter.

I have explained that when you command the little child, except in routines (which really are not commands), to perform some act such as closing the door, bringing you an object or picking up one from the floor, and he hesitates or refuses to obey this command, you must punish him or render your command futile.

But punishment tend sto make this act you want him to perform unpleasant, painful, repellent, rendering him less ready, therefore, to do it.

How different this is from giving him pain in connection with an act you wish him never to repeat. As you can see, one sharp slap on his bare hand or thigh might cause him not to throw the block at the window again, while beating him brutally many times might not make him pick up the block if he chose not to pick it up.

• • •

ON THE OTHER hand, a quiet, persuasive request that he pick up the block might win him to do so, and thus help lay the foundation for his further cooperation as well.

But if he should choose not to pick up the block after you had requested him to do so, you would have no occasion to punish him. You had not commanded and he had not disobeyed. You merely requested. Don't make positive commands of the very young child. Make positive suggestions instead.

Th time comes, however, when it is desirable to utter an occasional command for very practical reasons.

That is, when the child, say after four or five years of age, has had enough experience to profit from punishment on failing to obey a positive command. Even then such commands should be used sparingly.

Of one thing I am very sure: When you make a request you should treat it literally as a requestand not as a command.

Therefore, if you ask a child of any age to do something, you should let him choose whether to accede or not to this request. You should not shift to a command and say "You must."

Any parent who will check himself on the requests he has made of a child six, eight or fourteen in the last few weeks, will discover how hypocritical some of these requests have been. In the meanwhile, the child himself has been aware of the hypocrisy.

There are times, of course, when you will know better than to make a request, when you will know the child would not accede in spite of your persuasiveness.

• • •

YOU WOULD be foolish to make the request then. You would command instead. You would if you were pretty sure you could cause him to obey this time or the next. Otherwise it would be better to make neither a request nor a command.

We should hope to be so wise in choosing when to request or command that the child will have good practice at acceding to our requests and obeying our commands.

Q. Our son, five, tells the wildest yarns sometimes. Won't he become an awful liar?

A. He won't if you have a good imagination, appreciate his creative yarns, and never charge him with lying when he feels sure he had never been nearer to the truth.

Q. If, as you advise, a parent does not help a child do his homework in arithmetic which is far too hard for him, won't you lead him to ignore the wishes of his teacher?

A. Not if you make clear to him and to the teacher the good ways you have now to help him to be able to do such homework successfully later.

140 Officials To Man Polls In Circleville This Fall

Receiving And Counting Crews Listed

Half Of Workers Democrat; Other Half Republican

Officials to serve in all 13 precincts of Circleville and the one precinct of Circleville Township during the 1952 general election Nov. 4 have been named by the Pickaway County board of elections.

In all, a total of 140 officials will be on hand when voters visit the 14 polls in Circleville this Fall to cast what might be a record vote here.

Half of the total number of officials to serve in the polling places are Democrat, while the remaining half are Republican.

And the officials are divided into two categories—that is, six will serve in each precinct as members of the "receiving" crew and the other four will serve as the "counting" crew.

• • •

COMPLETE list of poll officials for the city this year, identified by the precinct in which they will serve and their party affiliations, is as follows:

Circleville, 1-A—Carl Kirkendall, Mary K. Fissell, Pauline Kirkpatrick, Charles Kirkpatrick and Emmalou Robbins, Republicans; and Maxine Leist, Robert Adkins, Mary E. Carpenter, James Henderson and Hazel Yeatts, Democrats.

1-B—Alice Neff, Anna Plum, Edith Ulm, Vera Leist and Ruth Wignel, Republicans; and Orrin Stout, Mary Baker, Mrs. Donald Mason, Anna Leist and Wilna Warner, Democrats.

ENDING A 76-DAY FAST in a glass case in Brighton, England, Jack Wafer, a professional hypnotist from New York, still looks healthy as he is reunited with his baby daughter, Michelle. According to his wife, Wafer lived on soda water, cigarettes and a dash of self-hypnosis. On view 24 hours a day during the fast, he lost 21 pounds, won $28,000 in bets, and claims a world record. (International Radiophoto)

Postmaster Cited By Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Oct. 16—(AP)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Chicago's former postmaster, John C. Haderlein, and 10 others in connection with alleged job selling in the Chicago postoffice.

Handerlein, who resigned his office shortly before the grand jury began its investigation, was accused of accepting bribes up to $1,000 to promote postal clerks to better jobs.

Toledo Blade Has Spread For Show

Timber Bugs Worse Than Forest Fires

A bug no bigger than the head of a kitchen match, the Douglas fir beetle, has sent a new breed of trapper into the woods of the west coast from Canada to California.

It killed more than 300 million board feet of timber last year on the Millicoma forest tree farm near Coos Bay, Ore. That much lumber would be enough for construction of 30,000 homes.

This beetle, the spruce budworm, the hemlock looper, the Douglas fir tussock moth and other bark beetles have grown into a greater menace to forests than fire.

The Douglas fir beetle bores into a tree and lays eggs in galleries mined out beneath the bark. The eggs hatch into larvae which cut the layer of wood through which the tree pumps moisture and nutrients from the soil, sunlight and air.

The tree dies from hunger and thirst, and the larvae come out from under the bark as mature insects which attack other trees.

ENTOMOLOGICAL trappers of the big timber set their traps on sections of both infested live trees and dead windfalls. Their purpose is to study every phase of the beetle's life and habits, developing information which will serve as a guide in insect control.

Evidence gathered thus far suggests that dead timber is the major breeder of beetles. And at present logging of the infested timber as soon as possible after the bugs have attacked is the only way to stop invasion.

TO SOMETHING NEW IN FUEL OIL

Wake up to new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil — the oil that contains the amazing Sinclair rust inhibitor, RD-119,® developed by Sinclair Research.

RD-119 assures you a purer, cleaner fuel oil than ever because it stops rust in the pipe lines, tank cars and trucks which carry the oil from the refinery to your home. In your burner, RD-119 protects against rust and corrosion that clog strainers and burner nozzle — protects against the excessive wear on burner parts caused by abrasive rust particles.

Yet new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil costs no more than ordinary fuel oil. Phone us today.
